FORTIETH CONGRESS.

High Court of Impeachment—Mr. Stanbery Concludes—House Proceedings—Gross Personalities.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, May 2, 1868.

SENATE.

Mr. STANBERY resumed the floor, introducing the continuation of his remarks by thanking the Senate for the courtesy shown him in an early adjournment yesterday, and saying he had been greatly benefitted by the consequent rest. Then, after expressing in advance his confidence of a speedy acquittal, based on a thorough examination of the case, which showed that not a shadow of a case had been made out, he proceeded with his argument as printed.

At a quarter before one Mr. Stanbery became fatigued, and Mr. W. F. Pedrick, who has assisted the counsel during the trial, continued the reading of the argument. Mr. Stanbery himself delivered his peroration, concluding at 3:10 o'clock P. M., when the Court adjourned.

The Senate took up the House amendments to the Naval Appropriation bill, which it non-concurred in and appointed a Committee of Conference.

Adjourned.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

Mr. PAINE introduced a resolution, which was adopted, calling on Gen. Grant to furnish the number of votes recently cast in Arkansas on the adoption of the Constitution,

The members then proceeded to the Senate.

On returning from the Senate, Mr. DONNELLY, of Minnesota, obtained leave to make a personal explanation. He then made a statement in relation to his presenting a bill some time since to aid a railroad in his State, to the construction of which Mr. Washburne objected. Subsequently Mr. Washburne wrote a letter to the constituents of Mr. Donnelly, making certain charges regarding Mr. Donnelly's previous political record and action in this Congress. Mr. Donnelly, after causing the letter to be read, said it contained twenty-three falsehoods, and continued in vindication of himself, characterizing Mr. Washburne's conduct in charging him with being an office beggar, as consistent and coming with bad grace from a gentleman of his family name. The names of the Washburnes are chronic as office beggars, and are as miserable and uncomfortable out of office as a stump tailed bull in fly time. Every man born into the Washburne family is born with "M. C." franked on his broadest part.

After further comments, Mr. Donnelly said he had analyzed the stomach of the gentleman from Illinois, and if it was possible for him by his peristaltic action to bring up anything more loathsome and disgusting than he has vomited over me in that letter, in God's name let it come.

The SPEAKER called Mr. Donnelly to order twice.

Mr. Donnelly occupied his hour in a similar strain, and was allowed to proceed by consent of the House, Mr. Washburne aiding in urging that he have permission to proceed. He continued in a strain of vindictive retort to disprove the charges made in the letter, his remarks being received with great good humor by the members. He concluded by saying that Mr. Washburne had lowered the honor of Congress. If, said he, there be in our midst one low, sordid, vulgar soul, one barren of mediocre intelligence, one heart callous to every kindly sentiment and to every generous emotion, one tongue leprous with slander, one mouth like unto a den of foul beasts giving forth deadly odors; if there be here one character white blotched and spotted, yet raves and rants and blackguards like a prostitute; if there be here one bold, bad, empty, bellowing demagogue, it is the gentleman from Illinois.

The SPEAKER, with severity in his tones, stated to Mr. Donnelly his remarks were not honorable to the House of Representatives, and that although the House tolerated them, the chair could not consent they should go on the records, except with his protest.

Mr. DONNELLY begged pardon of the House, but the House would not acknowledge it.

Mr. WASHBURNE, of Illinois, said: During my entire service in this House I have never asked leave to make a personal explanation, and I never expect to. The party from Minnesota has had the letter which I wrote to a gentleman in that State read to the House, and it has gone on the records. Every assertion made in that letter is true, and whoever says it is not true, states what is false. And I desire to say that if I, under any operation of circumstance, were called on to make a personal explanation in reply to a member, it would not be to a member who had committed a crime; it would not be to a member who ran away; it would not be to a member who had changed his name; it would not be to a member whose whole record in this House is covered with corruption and crime.

The SPEAKER reminded Mr. Washburne his remarks were unparliamentary.

Mr. WASHBURNE was sorry the Chair supposed him out of order. He said further: I repeat, if I were called upon to make a personal explanation, I should make it with a member not covered over with crime and infamy, whose record is stained with every fraud, whisky and other frauds, with a man who has proved false alike to his friends, his country, his constituency, his politics, his religion, and his God.

Mr. WINDOM gave notice that he should offer a resolution of censure on Mr. Washburne.

Adjourned.

JEFF DAVIS.

His Bail Bond Renewed—Trial to take Place at Next Term.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

RICHMOND, VA., May 2.—Jeff Davis' bail bond was renewed to-day. The accused is to appear on such day of next term as the Court may hereafter fix. The Judge said Chief Justice Chase had told him he would be in Richmond to preside at the trial within two days after the impeachment trial has concluded. The bond given has Horace Greeley, Cornelius Vanderbilt, and Gerret Smith on it for $25,000 each, and the remaining $25,000 is given by citizens of Richmond. This was done by instructions from the parties named.

Ex-Senator Bright, of Indiana, was in the Court room. Gen. Lee and ex-Secretary of War Seddon were in the city to attend as witnesses. It is thought the trial will take place the last of May.

METHODISM.

General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church at Chicago.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

CHICAGO, May 2.—The Conference assembled at nine o'clock this morning, Bishop Simpson in the Chair, and was opened with singing, and prayer by Rev. T. M. Hudson, of Pittsburgh. The journal of yesterday's session was read. The Committee on Episcopacy announced their organization by the election of Rev. Dr. Trimble, Chairman, and Rev. J. W. Lindsey, Secretary. The Committee on Itineracy also reported the election of Rev. Dr. J. T. Peck, Chairman, Rev. Dr. Nesbit, Secretary, and Rev. J. Creel, Engrossing Clerk.

Rev. Dr. Eddy asked a reconsideration of the vote of yesterday, by which the colonization cause was referred to the Committee on Freedmen, and the appointment of a special committee.

This resolution elicited considerable discussion, in which Drs. Wise, Hunter, Crann and others participated, and which developed a decided opposition to the Colonization Society's objects and methods. The motion was tabled.

The Conference took up the regular order of business, being the presentation of memorials, petitions and appeals. The Secretary called the roll of the Conferences and various petitions were presented, mostly in favor of lay delegation, the delegations of Annual Conferences, and the Presiding Eldership.

Rev. Dr. Eddy moved that the Secretary be ordered to insert the Washington and Delaware Conferences in the list of Conferences. As these two Conferences are composed wholly of colored Ministers and people, the motion produced some sensation.

The Secretary, Rev. Harrison, explained the omission, stating that these two Conferences were considered Mission Conferences, and as such were not entitled to representation by delegates.

Rev. J. T. Beck, D. D., of Troy, New York, suggested that the names of these two Conferences be entered on the roll, without determining their status for the present.

Dr. W. H. Ferris, of New York, moved the reference of the motion of Dr. Eddy to the Committee on the Credentials of the Representatives of the Mission Conferences.

Dr. Eddy resisted this disposition of his motion in an earnest speech, claiming that the General Conference was fully competent to admit these mission conferences to all the privileges of the church, and to do this at once.

Rev. Dr. Pershing, of Pittsburgh, thought it impossible legally to admit these bodies at present, though he favored their coming in as soon as it could be done, in accordance with the discipline.

Rev. Dr. Foster rose to a point of order. He stated his point to be that on his motion yesterday the whole subject of the relation of Mission Conferences was referred to the Special Committee, and that, therefore, this whole discussion was out of order. The point was overruled by the Chair.

CALIFORNIA.

The Democracy for Pendleton and Greenbacks.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

CINCINNATI, May 2.—The Enquirer has received the following dispatch:

San Francisco, Cal., April 30.—The Democratic Convention to-day instructed their delegates to the National Convention to vote for Governor Haight as California's first choice for the Presidency. Should no advance be made by other States for his nomination, the delegates are instructed to unite with the friends of Pendleton in the northwest in demanding his nomination. Even here the greenback plan of paying the national debt is sweeping all before it. California will give 20,000 majority for "Pendleton and Greenbacks." The Pacific coast is all right for the old Union and the Constitution of our fathers.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 2.—The Democratic Convention adopted another resolution, condemning the failure to make an appropriation for Alaska, and renominated Axtell for Congress. The nomination for Higby's District was postponed till the third Wednesday in August.

A State Convention of Spiritualists is now being held in this city.

The Labor Exchange to furnish employment to new comers is already a great success.

LOUISIANA.

By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NEW ORLEANS, May 2.—Official returns of the election are not yet published. The Republican gives returns from all the parishes, making the majority for the Constitution 17,803. They also claim twenty-two Republican Senators against fourteen Democrats, and sixty Republican members of the House against forty-one Democrats. Warmouth's majority for Governor is slightly in excess of the Constitutional majority.

The Republican Convention completed its nominations this morning. Two presidential electors and several delegates to the Chicago Convention are colored.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

This afternoon it was ascertained that his body had been thrown into a privy vault. Four negro men and a woman have been arrested for committing the deed, or who are known to have been connected with it.

The Supreme Court of the State has granted a writ of supercedeas in the Avalanche contempt, and ordered Judge Hunter to send up the papers in the case.

Heavy Rain at St. Louis and Vicinity—Killed by Lightning.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

ST. LOUIS, May 2.—A very heavy rain storm occurred here early this morning since when the weather has been clear and and very warm, the mercury rising to eighty-five in the shade. The storm was also very severe east of here. At Pana, Illinois, a man was killed by lightning, and another at Kokomo. The Kaskaskia river at Shelbyville, Illinois, rose twelve feet and carried away part of the railroad track at and near that place, compelling the Terre Haute and Alton Railroad Company to transfer passengers.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

Financial Matters—Large Public Reduction—Gold and Silver Mining Matters—Soldiers' National Convention at Chicago—Mr. Bingham's Impeachment Argument.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, May 2, 1868.

FINANCIAL MATTERS.

The fractional currency issued for the week amounted to $3,785,000; shipped $345,615. United States notes shipped $68,859. National Bank notes issued $115,490; amount in circulation $299,755,635. Fractional currency destroyed for the week $438,200; receipts internal revenue $4,573,633, and for fiscal year to date $158,942,242.

Warrants issued by the Treasury Department during April to meet requirements of the government: civil, miscellaneous and foreign intercourse, $6,096,000; interest on public debt, $904,000; war, $6,772,000; navy, $2,408,000; interior, pension and Indians, $1,831,000. Total, $18,011,000.

The above does not include warrants issued for the redemption of the public debt.

The receipts from customs will come within $3,000,000 of the expenditures, and as a consequence there will be a heavy reduction of the public debt during April, to wit: The entire receipts from internal revenue and all other sources less the $3,000,000 from customs.

GOLD AND SILVER MINING.

WASHINGTON, May 3.—The report of Jas. W. Taylor, Commissioner for collection of statistics of Gold and Silver Mining, sent to the House yesterday by the Secretary of the Treasury, gives a general review of the mining operations for 1867. Among other topics prominence is given to the probability of increasing the water supply of the Western plains, by means of Artesian wells, recent discoveries of coal along the Eastern base of the Rocky Mountains, and the most practicable means of reducing the oppressive rates of transportation West of the Rocky Mountains. This last discussion, he says, brings forward the necessity of a national railroad system through the northern and southern as well as the central tier of western States and territories. It is understood the Secretary of the Treasury has continued the mining commission of the Department, directing special inquiry into the best methods for economical reduction of obstinate sulphuret, which had hitherto obstructed the economical reduction of gold bearing rock.

SOLDIERS' NATIONAL CONVENTION.

A meeting of the Soldiers' National Executive Committee was held here Saturday evening. Members from thirteen States were present. Resolutions were adopted authorizing the various State delegations to fill up all vacancies from the soldiers of their respective States who shall be present at Chicago. Returns have been received from nearly all the States, and the Committee feel assured that it will be the largest delegated Convention ever held in this country.

RESOLUTION OF CENSURE.

After the adjournment of the House yesterday Mr. Washburne and Mr. Windom met in one of the passage ways of the Capitol, and Mr. Washburne asked Mr. Windom for what he proposed to offer a resolution of censure. Mr. Windom replied for writing the letter to Mr. Falsome in relation to his collegue.

IMPEACHMENT ARGUMENT.

Manager Bingham will occupy two days, if not three, in closing the argument in the impeachment case.

MEXICO.

Revolution in the North West at an End—Voluntary Loans from Merchants, &c.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NEW YORK, May 3.—Special dipatches to the Herald from Mazatlan, April 22d, via San Francisco to the 2d, state that Governor Rubi had called on the merchants for a voluntary loan of $30,000 to pay the troops and carry on the Government, and had received $21,000. Gen. Corona called a meeting of merchants at his headquarters and informed them he must have a loan of $100,000 for the immediate payment of the army. After two hours' debate they had concluded to raise the amount. Only one American merchant was present. Fifty thousand dollars of the above sum was received by Corona on the 22d, the balance to be paid in two weeks. Two thousand five hundred troops entered the city at noon. Nearly all of the Fourth division is now in the garrison there. General Martinez had issued a final proclamation at Culican on the 15th, announcing his abandonment of the revolutionary army and retirement to private life. He is being closely pursued by General Talentino, with a cavalry force, with orders to capture, kill or drive him out of the State. Granada, Policios, Palze and other revolutionists, who escaped to San Blas, are reported prisoners in the hands of General Lozana. General Corona had arrived at Mazatlan, and had a brilliant reception. As military commander of north-western Mexico he is absolutely master of the situation. The notorious fillibuster D'Artois has gone to establish a colony at the mouth of the Colorado. Several whalers were in port. A few whales had been caught right in the harbor.

Sweetman, who aided the escape of United States officers from Libby prison during the war, and for Messenger of Councils, a negro man named John Oliver.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

AUGUSTA, Me., May 2.—For some time past the Portland and Kennebec Railroad Company has been missing large quantities of copper and brass, and to-day five parties, charged with committing these larcenies, were arrested. The amount stolen is large. It is understood that the proof against the arrested parties is indisputable.

For the extinguishment of these the present Constitution sets apart annually $2,000,000 from the Canal revenues, and the Albany Argus says it is expected that at the rate the extinctions are going on, all the State debt will be paid off by 1879.

CITY AND SUBURBAN.

THE COURTS.

United States District Court—Judge McCandless.

Petitions for adjudication in bankruptcy were filed by James Ackerman, of Crawford county; Herman Veeder, of Allegheny county; James Johnston, Jr., of Allegheny county; Campbell & Vankirk, of Washington county.

A petition for final discharge was filed by Benjamin F. Crisswell, late of Pittsburgh. The usual order was made.

N. Holmes & Son, bankers, filed a petition against James Robb, of Pittsburgh. The petition sets forth that on or about the 14th of April, 1868, the respondent transferred the stock of his store to J. & R. A. McConnell, and did also give to Samuel Barclay a mortgage on his property, situated in the Seventh ward, Pittsburgh. The petitioners further say that the above transfers and sales were made for the purpose of hindering the collection of the claims of the creditors of the said James Robb—the latter being indebted to them in the sum of several thousand dollars. A rule on respondent to show cause, made returnable on the 15th inst., was granted by the Court.

Judge McCandless appointed P. A. Knox, Esq., of Waynesburg, Greene county, and John M. Dormand, of Washington, Washington county, United States Commissioners for those districts.

District Court—Judge Williams.

In this Court on Saturday the following business was done:

The reports of the viewers appointed to assess the damages and benefits arising from the opening of Morton and Evans' alleys, Allegheny city, were received and confirmed. No exceptions to the reports were filed.

The Evangelical Lutheran Church of Pittsburgh vs. Jacob S. Newmyer. On motion of complainants' counsel the Court appointed Wm. B. Cook as an Examiner to take testimony in the case—to report the facts to the Court.

John J. McGaffick vs. Cynthia Paine and John S. Barr. On motion of Barr's counsel the injunction, so far as relating to him, was dissolved.

James Thorn & Co. vs. The Pearl Oil Company. Sheriff Cluley asked leave to pay into Court the sum of four hundred and ninety-four dollars—proceeds of the sale, which was granted.

After the acknowledgment of a number of Sheriff's deeds, and the transaction of some minor business, the case of Charles Gearing vs. James Millingar, on trial for several days past, was resumed.

Quarter Sessions—Full Bench.

After the usual Saturday business, the Hoevelier nuisance case was called up. It will be remembered that Hoeveller was convicted of maintaining a nuisance in the shape of a bone boiling establishment on Butcher's run, Seventh ward, Allegheny. Defendant's counsel submitted an affidavit, signed by the defendant, stating that the nuisance, so far as the bone boiling was concerned, had been discontinued. The petitioner asked that the Couet would allow time to finish up what glue was already in process of manufacture. The affidavit set forth that the firm had several heavy contracts on hand for glue, and as this was one of the seasons of the year for the manufacture of the article, time to finish up such contracts was asked for. The removal of the establishment now would involve a loss of many thousand dollars.

Judge Sterrett, before passing sentence, remarked that the costs in the case being very heavy, a light fine would be imposed. The sentence of the Court was that the defendant pay a fine of one hundred dollars, the costs of prosecution, and abate the nuisance within the period of thirty days. Bail required.

David Frederick was arraigned before the Court on a charge of abandonment. The case was indefinitely postponed.

Court then adjourned until Monday, when the arguments will be continued.

Common Pleas—Full Bench.

On Saturday the following business was transacted in this Court:

Peter Lefever's executors vs. Daniel Lefever. Sheriff has leave to pay into Court $1,924.91, and Joseph W. Murray appointed auditor.

John White vs. Sarah J. White. Petition in divorce. George R. Cochran, Esq., was appointed a commissioner to take testimony.

Several arguments were heard, and some other business transacted of no public interest, when Court adjourned.

Real Estate Transfers.

The following deeds were filed of record, before H. Snively, Esq., Recorder, May 2d, 1868:

Thompson Bell to Thomas L. Bigelow; April 20, 1868; an irregular lot on the south side of Nunnery Hill, partly in Reserve township and partly in Allegheny City $3,800

Death of an Old Citizen.—Jacob L. Schwartz, Esq., member of the drug firm of B. A. Fahnestock & Co., departed this life last night at his residence in Allegheny. He had been suffering from hemorrhage of the lungs for some time past, but was unusually well on Friday and Saturday, being at his place of business. He was siezed with hemorrhage last evening, and passed away from its effects. He was a worthy gentleman, an honorable business man, much beloved and respected by all who knew him. He had attained the age of fifty-two years.

The National Republican Convention.

A Chicago letter of the 23d says: In less than a month (on May 20th) the Republican National Convention will assemble in this city, and it is every day becoming more evident that it will be the occasion of a great gathering from all parts of the country. For weeks applications have been arriving from delegates and others for accommodations at our principal hotels, and, although we are well supplied with those establishments, they will all be overrun with guests, as, in addition, the Soldiers' and Sailors' Convention and the Wool-Growers Association will meet here during the same days. I see that excursion trains are chartering in New York, Massachusetts and other parts of the country, an example which will doubtless be very widely followed, on account of the reduction of expense and the superior comfort.

The Opera House, where the Convention has been announced to meet, will hold a larger audience than any other permanent structure west of New York, and will furnish unusual facilities for committtees, members of the press, &c. A larger building, however, ought to have been chosen, and the committee are pressed by many persons here and elsewhere to erect a spacious wigwam capable of holding all who may desire to come. A number of prominent citizens have headed a subscription for the purpose of building such a strueture, and there is a prospect that it will yet be done.

Democracy and Labor.

From the late report of the Department of Agriculture it appears that wages in Delaware are $24 93 per month, for the year, without board; $13 25 per month, with board; for the season, $26 25 per month, without board, and $15 25 for the same with board. These rates are considerably lower than those of Pennsylvania and other States, but about equal to or above those of Maryland. This is the practical result of Democracy, as it effects the workingman. Low wages and poor work are the invariable accompaniments of a Democratic majority. In Massachusetts, the rates of wages are higher than in any other State of the Union; while in Kentucky, Delaware and Maryland, the strongholds of the Democracy, they are the lowest. Let the working men of Pennsylvania bear this in mind, and let the orators and press of the pro-slavery party answer or explain the fact if they can.—Phil. Press.

A CORRESPONDENT of the Cincinnati Commercial pays the following tribute to the Hon. Reverdy Johnson:

"Perhaps the grandest head in the Senate is that of Reverdy Johnson, of Maryland. It is round and lofty, like the dome of the Capitol. His hair is gray and cut close. He lost one eye in a duel many years ago, and his gives a peculiarity quite marked to his appearance. His mouth expresses, in singular combination, firmness and impatience. Once, when the fourteenth constitutional amendment was under consideration, his superior knowledge and manhood caused him to forget that he was a politician, and to become a statesman. Therefore Maryland discards him for some one of her undistinguished throng of Copperheads. His State loses a great deal, and he loses nothing. His fame is secure. Her reputation is in doubt. He is the foremost man in America in the profession of the law. She is a border State, and the weight of his influence in the Senate she can ill afford to spare. The deed is done, however, and perhaps there are few States so without sin in discarding their greatest men that they can afford to cast the first stone at her. Mr. Reverdy Johnson is about seventy years of age, but active, full of uneasy vitality as a boy, and there is reason to believe he has yet many years good service in him; if not in the Senate, then at the bar of the Supreme Court.

A WASHINGTON letter to the New York Advertiser (Mr. WEED'S journal,) says of Mr. EVARTS' argument before the Senate:

"His argument can but produce a powerful impression on such able lawyers as Fessenden, Edmunds, Grimes, Henderson, Sherman and Trumbull, who hold the balance of power between those ultra Republicans who have made up their minds to convict the President, and those Democrats who have made up their minds to acquit him. They, or part of them, may be convinced by the power, the brilliancy, and the force of Mr. Evarts' eloquent reasoning, but I doubt whether success will crown their efforts. Conviction on the second article of impeachment appears to me to be inevitable. Even Senators who used to sneer at the Fugitive Slave act, and applaud those who violated it, will now hold Andrew Johnson strictly to his oath "to take care that the laws be faithfully executed."

FREE LABOR IN PRACTICE.—The owner of one of the finest farms in Southern Kentucky—a great tobacco-growing region, as the lovers of the weed well know—told us the other day that emancipation had not interfered with his pursuit in the least. He hired the negroes he once owned, and said they worked, on the whole, better than before as they had no wages for idle time, he found free labor much cheaper than slave labor. He raises first class shipping leaf tobacco. Our informant said that his experience was that of all his neighbors, who treated the freedmen kindly and paid their wages punctually. He is a conservative, but a thorough free labor man, and we hope will soon be a good Republican.—Nashville Press.

THE farmers in Massachusetts are grumbling about the scarcity of farm help and the high prices demanded for labor. "Good hands" can command about whatever price they wish.

THE BELLE OF THE BALL.

Beautiful! beautiful!
Look at her now!
How queenly her footstep,
How peerless her brow!
Oh, never a being
In palace or hall,
Can equal her beauty—
The Belle of the Ball.

See! now she is dancing!
She glides to and fro
With a wild witching motion,
Then dreamy and slow.
More light than a snow-flake
Her footstep doth fall.
How perfectly graceful
The Belle of the Ball!

Her white arms are wreathing,
Her eye flashes bright,
A thousand gems sparkle
And scintillate light.
Coquettishly drooping
The snowy lids fall;
And veil the soft glance of
The Belle of the Ball.

Exquisitely lovely!
The blush and the smile
Which steal o'er the cheek
That is dimpling the while.
Then her musical voice
Which is sweeter than all—
She's a sad mischief-maker,
The Belle of the Ball.

But, now she is weary—
She tires of the dance—
Her liquid eye seeketh
An answering glance.
Then, close by her side,
As they glide from the hall,
He holds the soft hand of
The Belle of the Ball.

Beautiful! beautiful!
Look at her now!
A bridal robe 'round her,
And wreath on her brow.
The one at her side when
She went from the hall,
Has won the proud heart of
The Belle of the Ball!

—Browning's manuscript is very clear and Tennyson's almost unintelligible, When they are printed however, they meet with a reverse.

—Barnum, who is coming with his collection of curiosities it is said, is trying to secure a chapter of the Ku Klux Klan for exhibition.

—The President of one of the Boston Savings Banks states that the deposits have been doubled during 1867, through extensive advertising in the newspapers.

—With smoke consumers in every manufactory, and with Liberty street sans railroad, and with Nicolson pavement, what a fine city we should soon grow to be!

—Parisians are not allowed to sneeze into pocket handkerchiefs, which are decorated with portraits of the Emperor, because that great man objects to being sneezed at.

—Cairo juries value husband's lives at $4,583, a sum which they made a railway company pay a disconsolate widow, made so by the negligence of railway officials.

—Joseph S. Perot has been elected President of the Philadelphia Chamber of Commerce, and Alex. G. Cattell, one of the Senators from New Jersey, is one of the Managers.

—Colonel Fitzgerald, of the Philadelpbia City Item, has written a new play called Tangled Threads, and said to be, if possible, more ridiculously trashy than his last one, Light at Last.

—Many newspapers and men profess to despise old Horace Greely, but we notice that no man's opinion is more quoted or more anxiously looked for on all questions of importance.

—Pic-nics are the rage just now in Nashville, and May-day was signalized by the horrible dissipation which attends those mad revels which are generally known as Sabbath school pic-nics.

—About $5,000,000 a piece is what the British subjects rescued from Abyssinia cost their government. What with Fenians and Abyssinians Britain manages to pay a good deal for her prisoners.

—The Italian Government is extensively engaged in manufacturing bronze coins to take the place of the fractional currency, which is not popular. Here is an idea for Messieurs Ruggles and McCulloch.

—Mrs. Van Zandt, an American cantatrice and a daughter of Signor Blitz, is singing in London, where she is called Madame Vanzini. Miss Kellogg is styled Mademoiselle Kellogg in the same town.

—San Francisco has a champion sleeper who can doze 22 hours per day without snoring. The central New York man who sleeps five days on a stretch (also on a stretcher) goes ahead of the Californian.

—Roger A. Pryor is figuring in some pistol-ary transactions in Richmond. It is said that Mr. Pryor, if he were able, would eat off of nothing but silver dishes, so much does he dread having anything to do with the Potters art.

—Three boys in New Jersey stole a locomotive the other night and took a ride. They were afterwards arrested on a charge of burglary. Breaking into a round-house and stealing a locomotive has the virtue of originality at least.

—The magic fan which is concealed in a tubular black handle, and is so popular with church-going ladies, has been put in a new form. Riding whips are now made with this little patent arrangement applied to the end of the handle.

—People who delight in Mocha coffee will be delighted to know that, according to the learned Professor Blot, there is none genuine in the American market; so called Mocha being nothing but the smallest berries picked from other coffees.

—A car laden with green peas, turnips, cucumbers, radishes, beans, carrots, beets, celery, dewberries, parsley and thyme was sent from Mobile to Chicago recently. A very important trade in early vegetables is springing up between the Gulf and the great lake States.

—The King of Spain is elected a member of the Geographical Society of Paris. His forte is probably physical geography, as it is recorded in early history that he with twenty thousand men rode up a hill (noticed its physical conformation) and then rode down again.

—Does any one still live who went, years ago, to see the man fly from the top of the Hand street bridge? We have never met any one who was there, and as the incident belongs to the history of the middle ages of our town, it would be interesting to have an account of it from an eye-witness.

—Miss Hosmer has written a letter to the Master of the Hounds of the Roman Hunt which bristles with true Yankee spunk. Besides handing in her resignation she gives the official addressed so severe a dig with her pen that if he has the slightest tinge of gentle blood in his underbred body, it must wince.

—The White Fawn is not much longer for this world. It's successor at Niblo's is already bespoken in Fechter, who is coming to play standard drama. We suppose he will create a furore because he was the hero of the English stage for so long, and yet he is not so good an actor as either Booth or Edwin Adams.

—The definition of a proverb as "one man's wit and all men's wisdom, is ascribed to Earl Russell. The same idea is expressed in Don Quixote. The story of Earl Russell's bon mot on the Schleswig Holstein question has been told of Lord Palmerston, Count Bismarck and Baron Von Beust. Perhaps they all got it off simultaneously.

—In Philadelphia cricket is considered very much more aristocratic than base ball and the Philadelphia, Germantown and Young America clubs teem with young swells who while they play cricket so well as always to come out victors in matches with clubs from other cities, look down upon base ball as a game more suited for the canaille than for such as they,

—The New York Sun is anxious, evidently, to return to the system of torturing great criminals. It does not want Jeff. Davis hung on a sour apple tree, but insists that he shall be forced to take a journey on the New York and Erie Railroad. Suitable punishment should always follow every crime, but a return to the system of the middle ages, intensified by steam, is what we are hardly prepared for.

—Three dollars a pound are asked for early rare potatoes in Central New York. There seems to be an invisible essence in bulbous and some other roots which inspires men to madness. The tulip-omania in Holland, the present potato mania in New York and New Jersey, and the Mississippi, South Sea, California and Petroleum bubbles, which sprang from the love of the root of all evil, are evidence of the fact.

—Gen. Beauregard denies that while visiting the National Cemeteries, at Arlington, he scoffed at the inscription on the vault. He says that a true hearted soldier feels the same respect for the grave of a gallant enemy as for a brother in arms. This is perhaps true but it does not apply to Beauregard. A true hearted soldier would not fight against his flag and the men who learned the art of war with him at the expense of a generous government.

—Janauscheck's last performance in New York was an ovation; the New York Times says: The attendance on the occasion was so great as to invade the sanctity of the orchestra, and the musicians were turned from their accustomed seats, in favor of the overflow from the auditorium, which completely filled the precinct of harmony. The overture and entr'act music were given from behind the curtain. The enthusiasm of the vast audience was very great, as may be imagined, and Mlle. Janauscheck was recalled twice and sometimes three times after every act. The excitement at the end of the play, also, seemed for a time to be unrestrainable, and was participated in by the artist equally with her admirers.

The Sub-Treasurer to-day collected only 150,000 of gold. He bought $2,005,000 of -30 notes at 107¾ and paid out $1,830,000 in oin on account of May interest, which makes the total paid out for the past three lays nearly $10,000,000. This is about half he amount to be disbursed from the New York office. The comparatively small hipments of specie in the face of large lisbursements by the Treasury for May in-erest attract general attention and indicate hat a considerable amount of the interest lue abroad will be invested in bonds in-tead of being shipped to Europe.

RIVER NEWS.

The splendid side-wheel passenger steamer St. Marys, Capt. Sweeney, takes her departure this day at 4 p. m. for Cin-cinnati and Way Points. This boat has su-perior accommodations, and is in charge of as gentlemanly set of officers as can be found.

The steamer Kate Robinson has changed her sign. She will leave for St. Louis on Tuesday positively. So says Captain Rob-inson.

The boats announced for Saturday was detained until to-day.

The Monongahela is filling slowly, with six feet two inches in the channel. The Allegheny marks calls for seven feet. Weather fine.

The splendid passenger steam r Glen-dale will positively take her departure for St. Louis and Missouri river on Saturday, and persons going that way would do well to bear this fact in mind. She has unsur-passed accommodations, and careful and attentive officers.

Capt. Anawalt, with the Wild Duck and Barges, takes her departure this day posi-tively for Cairo and St. Louis.

The mail line of steamboats on the Mo-nongahela are running regularly to all points on the river. The boats are all first-class, and the officers are proberbially courteous and obliging.

The steamer Argosy, Capt. Vandergrift, left Cincinnati on Thursday evening with all the freight she wanted, ann engage-ments above.

The J. N. McCullough, Capt. Moore, was announced to leave Cincinnati on Sunday for this port.

COAL DEPARTURES. — The following boats have departed since our last—all for Cincinnati—amounting, in the aggregate, 70,000 bushels: Whale, 70,000; Niagara, 70,000; Fearless, 8,000; Leopard, 70,000; Hor-net, 60,000; Samson, 70,000. The Coal Val-ley would leave Steubenville for Cincin-nati with 90,000 bushels. This coal was towed down by the Arab.

JEFFERSONVILLE, May 1.—The river is falling with 4 feet 10 inches in the pass over the falls. Cloudy and wind south-west, indicating rain. Thermometer 80 de-grees in the shade, and 100 degrees in the sun, the warmest day this spring.

DRYDEN.

EVANSVILLE, May 1.—Pleasant but cloudy, with indications of rain. Business very good. Port list—Darling, Cincinnati to Memphis; Rob Roy, Cincinnati to Evans-ville; Indiana, Louisville to New Orleans; Morning Star to Louisville, and Belle Lee, Louisville to New Orleans. William Mathena, a steamboat pilot, committed suicide at 10 o'clock last night, at the store of J. S. Gamble, in this city, by taking morphine.

ST. LOUIS, May 1.—The river is still ris-ing here: stationary at Dubuque, and rising at Keokuk. The Missouri is rising slowly at Randall The following boats for Ben-ton have passed that point: Deer Lodge, April 3; Cora, 8; Antelope, 21; Sallie, Hunts-ville and Miner, 24; Henry Adkins, 25. Business is in good. Travel is light. In two or three weeks there will begin the heavy stream of travel northward that al-ways characterizes the season, and which is bound to become larger every year. There will be large numbers of persons go-ing to Minnesota by stream. Fort Benton freights are abundant. Rates are six and one-half cents for large, and seven cents for small lots per pound. The line of the Mississippi Valley Telegraph Company is now completed from St. Paul to Lansing, a distance of 269 miles, while the contract is let for building it by July next. Captain Dan. Musselman, commanding the Mem-phis packets for several years, died on Wednesday, at Bailey Springs, Alabama, where he recently went bad health. The steamboat flags are lowered. He was a Pennsylvanian, and aged 39 years.

CAIRO, May 1.—The Nightingale, from St. Louis, has 50 tons for Louisville; 150 sacks rye for Cannelton; 200 tons pig metal for Pittsburgh; 224 sacks oats, 200 sacks ship stuff, 33 pkgs scrap iron for Cincinnati. The Leonidas, from St. Louis, is full, but has nothing for Cincinnati.

The following is our port list for the past 24 hours: Wednesday—Bengal Tiger, Cumberland river to Cairo; Baltic, New Orleans to Pittsburgh; Sam Brown, St. Louis to return; Cumberland, Evansville; Bismark, New Orleans to St. Louis; Pau-line Carroll, St. Louis to New Orleans. River fell 1 inch. Weather clear and warm.

The St. Louis Democrat has the follow-ing: Government freight for Fort Sully and Stevenson is seeking the boats at our wharf. The Gaty sailed for Sully last evening, and the Ben Johnson and Isa-bella take cargo for Stevenson. Benton freight appears offering liberally. One boat just announced has a load engaged, and another which leaves Saturday has a full cargo secured. The Nightingale left for Cincinnati, having a large number of passengers and a full cargo, including grain, 200 tuns pig iron and one hundred tuns ore. The Leonidas also sailed, and likewise had a full cargo engaged for Pittsburgh and way points.

Since the first of the month through bills of lading via New Orleans, have been issued here on 20,000 bushels of wheat for Liver-pool, over 65,000 bushels of wheat, nearly 90,000 bushels corn, 8,000 bushels oats and 900 barrels flour for New York; 2,000 bar-rels flour and 20,000 bushels corn for Boston.

The St. Louis Republican has the follow-ing: There is at present no opposition in the New Orleans trade. the Atlantic line and the outside boats having effected an arrangement by which they load in turns, having a boat every other day. There are six of the Atlantic line and five independ-ent. By this means they are enabled to keep rates up to at least a living rate.

The Importer and Silver Lake both have their signs up for Benton, and will leave when they get a trip.

There appears to be considerable appre-hension felt amongst steamboatmen inter-ested in Montana boats, on account of low water in the Upper Missouri, as it is re-ported that there is very little snow in the mountains, which, if such is the case, will cause great loss to steamboats not only in time, but money, by being compelled to lighten, or may be in cases where boats are too large, may have to reship by wagons, at an expense nearly as great as the whole amount of freight through.

Competition in the Missouri is greater at present, than in any other trade, six boats being receiving yesterday. The packet lines seem to have the advantage, as their boats only have two days each to load in and always leave promptly on time, and other boats are sometimes a whole week in getting a trip.

DUBUQUE.—The river is swelling, and weather stormy, a warm rain falling all yesterday afternoon. Freights are not over plenty, but steamboats are decidedly so, more running in these waters than at any previous season since the flush times of ten years ago. The Itasca made a sudden re-appearance from up river, with a fair trip and taking on 809 sacks of wheat and pota-toes cleared for St. Louis.

CINCINNATI, May 2—The Argosy came in from Pittsburgh with a fair trip, and was preparing to return with all the freight she wanted on the present water. The J. N. McCullough will arrive from Pittsburgh this morning.

A meeting will be held this morning at the Marine Association Rooms, corner of Main street and Public Landing, to arrange for petitioning Congress in regard to the 300 feet span bridge. A general invitation is extended. The people of the Mississippi Valley are all interested in this matter.

THE Georgia Republicans claim the election of their Governor, with majorities in each branch of the Legislature, and four out of the seven Congressmen. In Louisiana, the Democrats claim the State Senate.

THE work of building an iron railroad bridge across the Allegheny river at Oil City, will be commenced within a few weeks. This will connect the Allegheny Valley road with the lines on the opposite side of the river, and will prove of great benefit to Oil City.

WHITE citizens of the Southern States begin to understand themselves. In South Carolina, it is said that fifteen thousand of them, nearly all ex-Confederate soldiers, voted for the new Constitution, and in Georgia over forty-four thousand whites supported the Republican ticket. Light has evidently dawned upon them, at last.

THE citizens of the old borough of Lancaster gave a curious illustration on Friday of that "reaction" against Republicanism which Democrats say so much about. Our friends gained 187 votes on the Mayoralty, and eight of the Councilmen, showing, for the first time in many years, a majority in one branch and tie-ing both in joint ballot.

CONNECTICUT is likely to send ex-Governor HAWLEY to the Senate, in the place of DIXON. Governor BUCKINGHAM has many warm supporters for the seat, which, two years since, was understood to be reserved for him; but it is possible that his prospects are now impaired by a natural reaction against the influences which defeated the re-election of Senator FOSTER.

THE BOLDNESS of Mr. EVARTS' argument surprised Republicans at Washington, but its assertion of the exclusive power of the Executive in the matter of removals from office was regarded as a logical sequence from the whole course of the President's defense. Accepting his theories as correct, the Senate has no power whatever over appointments to office, the Executive creating vacancies and filling them with ad interim appointments at his own pleasure. This doctrine needs only to be stated to be condemned.

DELEGATES TO CHICAGO.

The Delegates and Alternates to the Chicago Convention are requested by Hon. G. A. GROW, Chairman of the State Central Committee, to send their postoffice addresses as soon as possible to him, at the Continental Hotel, Philadelphia.

GOV. WARD, of New Jersey, Chairman of the National Executive Committee, also desires to secure a correct list of delegates, with their postoffice addresses.

THE REPUBLICAN STATE CENTRAL COMMITTEE.

We print the names of the Committee which has been appointed for the current year, under the directions of the recent State Convention. The members will hold their first meeting in Philadelphia on Tuesday, May 12th.

The designation of Hon. GALUSHA A. GROW as the Chairman of the Committee gives the highest satisfaction to the Republicans of Pennsylvania. He thoroughly understands the situation of political affairs in every portion of the Commonwealth, his distinguished career in the National Councils has won for him the confidence of the party in all parts of the Union, and his conspicuous ability and energy are pledged, with even more than his usual efficiency, to the service of his Republican fellow-citizens. We congratulate our friends upon their selection, and upon the promptitude with which Mr. GROW has accepted the responsible trust.

THE TRIAL.

The concluding argument is to be opened by Mr. BINGHAM for the Managers to-day, and may be finished to-morrow. The anxiety to hear this distinguished orator will crowd the galleries of the Senate beyond any previous experience in the progress of the trial. He will speak only from notes; no copy of his argument being yet in type.

With this argument, the issues are to be submitted to the Senate, and will be further discussed by this body in secret session. The protracted speeches of counsel have so wearied the country and exhausted the fortitude of Senators that the result will be an abbreviation of their own debates. Three or four days may be consumed, perhaps a week, since many, even, of the Radical members, regard a tolerably full discussion as the better way to ascertain any existing conflict of views, so as to ensure concentration at the right points in the vote, but it is very improbable that this week can close without a verdict and judgment. What these are to be, we have never doubted for an instant.

THE ENGLISH MINISTRY.

The Premier loses ground daily in Parliament. His Abyssinian success has strengthened him so far that his opposition majority has gone up from sixty to sixty-seven, the latter being the vote on Friday on the first of Mr. Gladstone's Irish Church Resolutions. On Saturday, the Premier went to consult the Queen as to the course to be pursued. Opinions differ as to the probable decision, some journals maintaining that he will resign the seals to Mr. Gladstone forthwith, while others insist that he will carry through the Budget, with the Irish and Scotch measures for Reform in representation and then dissolve Parliment, going to the people upon a no Popery cry or some similar appeal to religious fanaticism. It is evident, however, that, with the majority of the Commons so decisively against him, he holds office only by the sufferance of the opposition who, at any moment, by a vote of want of confidence in Ministers, may precipitate the crisis upon him. That vote ends all temporising in Parliamentary tactics, a dissolution or a resignation being the immediate alternatives.

LAND AND BOND GRANTS.

The national government, as is well known, already stands pledged to aid in the construction of one line of railway across the continent. This line is in the ownership of two distinct but co-operating companies; one, the Central Pacific of California, whose road starts at Sacramento and runs eastward to intersect the road of the Union Pacific, which starts at Omaha, and runs westward. When these two meet, as they will, somewhere on the great plain of Utah, the completed line of communication will be established. It is now calculated that this consummation will be reached about two years hence. To each of these companies the government has donated every alternate section of land for many miles on each side of their respective lines, to be taken possession by them as the work progresses, and has further agreed to advance its bonds, secured only by a second mortgage, in amounts varying from sixteen thousand dollars a mile to thirty-six thousand, according to the character of the country through which the tracks shall be laid. To so much the government is committed, with no loophole through which to back out if it shall desire to, without a breach of faith.

The same terms were granted to the Eastern Division of the Union Pacific; that is, to the line running from Kansas City towards the Pacific Ocean, and designing to reach it by way of Santa Fe—flanking the Rocky Mountains. This grant, however, was only applicable as far as the one hundredth meredian of longitude, which has already been reached in the construction of the road. Of course, the Company are anxious now to renew the grant, for at least as far as Santa Fe, trusting to the future to get it extended all the way through to San Francisco. Already they have made application to Congress for this concession.

Various other roads have been projected from the central portions of the continent through to the Pacific shore, and for each of them aid to a proportionate amount is solicited. It is closely computed that the bonds asked for amount to the vast sum of $234,000,000. This does not include what will ultimately be requisite to complete the several roads. For instance, the computation embraces only so much of the projected line of the Eastern Division of the Union Pacific as will reach to Santa Fe; when, two years hence, the Government will be importuned to extend the subsidy all the way across to the Western Ocean. Nor does it include the bonds yet to be issued to the main line of the Union Pacific, and the Central Pacific of California, which will necessarily amount to many millions.

We assume that all the bonds heretofore advanced, or which may hereafter be advanced, to any or all of these companies, will have to be paid by the National Government, and out of its own resources. Whoever has watched the results of such advances by the several State governments, is well aware that only one or two cases exist in which the companies aided have ever liquidated this portion of their indebtedness. In the cases of these railroads the government, indeed, goes through the formality of taking mortgages, which it is probable will ultimately be sacrificed in common with the stock, if such a commodity as the latter has any real existence.

In addition to these vast grants of bonds, which are actually money-grants, the Government is now asked to donate lands. The catalogue of these bequests has been epitomized as follows:

"For the benefit of public schools in the District of Columbia, 1,000,000 acres; for bounty land to all soldiers serving three months or longer in the war of the rebellion, at 40 to 100 acres each, and requiring anywhere from 200,000,000 to 500,000,000 acres; for the State of Minnesota, to aid in improving the navigation of the Mississippi, 200,000 acres. Western Pacific Railroad Company of California, an unestimated quantity of lands; State of Oregon, an unestimated quantity of lands; Union Pacific Railway company, an unestimated quantity of lands, in addition to hundreds of thousands of acres before appropriated; New Orleans and Mobile Railway Company, an unestimated quantity of lands; Idaho, Oregon and Puget Sound Railroad Company, an unestimated quantity of lands; Oregon Branch of the Pacific Railroad Company, an unestimated quantity of lands; Port Royal Railroad Company, an unestimated quantity of lands; Northern Michigan Railroad Company, ten alternate sections to each mile; Brownsville, Fort Kearny and Pacific Railroad Company, ten alternate sections to each mile; Iowa and Missouri State Line Railroad Company, ten alternate sections to each mile; Missouri, Fort Scott and Santa Fé Railroad Company, ten alternate sections to each mile; San Francisco and Humboldt Bay Railroad Company, ten alternate sections to each mile; Humboldt and Colorado Railroad Company, ten alternate sections to each mile."

Among the masses of the people the feeling has been that, considering the enormous national debt, which is the legacy of the rebellion, Congress would not be so unwise as to bestow the aid, particularly in bonds, which is solicited at its hands. In this feeling we participated until within the last few days, and have expressed ourselves accordingly. We are now convinced that there is a strong probability that most, if not all, of these grants will be authorized before the olose of the present session of Congress. To draw it mildly, a deep infatuation obtains among members of both Houses as to the unexhaustibleness of the national resources. This infatuation prompts to what seems to be perilous experiments designed to demonstrate precisely how much weight the Treasury can bear without falling into collapse. Uncharitable individuals go farther, and maintain that Congress has been "set up," as the thing is expressed at Harrisburg and Albany, to put these grants through all the formalities essential to the process of law-making. We shall be greatly pleased if the end shall show that the apprehensions which now press upon us relative to these matters are not well founded.

A FIGHT AGAINST FATE.

It is a strong testimony to the wise foresight of Congress in its careful adjustment of the provisions of the Tenure-of-Office law, and the remarkable ability which has marked the entire proceeding impeaching the President for the violation of that law, in the framing of the articles, the management of the testimony and the inevitable logic with which the arguments of the Managers sum up the case, that the counsel for the accused have found themselves of necessity compelled to accept square issues upon the right of the Executive to construe the law for himself, and the duty of the Senate, sitting in impeachment, to pronounce upon the question of its constitutionality. Stripped of their rhetoric, their personal allusions and their diffuse commentaries upon general politics, the arguments of Messrs. Curtis, Evarts and Stanbery are addressed to these as vital issues for their client. Yet the mere statement of these issues precludes the possibility of doubt as to their solution by the Senate. This body can concede to no one citizen, least of all to the Executive, the right of individual judgment and authoritative decision upon the legality of any law which has been duly enacted, nor can the Senate sitting in a judicial capacity be expected to reverse its own solemnly deliberate legislative action upon the same question. The case for the accused is a desperate one, when his hope of acquittal must hang upon such palpable impossibilities which alone can save. And the country may well be grateful for the skill which has thus rendered his conviction logically inevitable. When his only safety lies in such a line of defense it is a proof that his case is hopeless.

A specification of the means by which this result is accomplished must also include a cordial acknowledgement of the prudence, consistency, vigilance and fidelity with which the friends of the law, and first among them Secretary Stanton himself, have guided their action in the critical emergencies rising out of the revolutionary movements of the President toward the usurpation of unlawful authority. The policy which dictated the passage of the law has been faithfully adhered to by the Secretary, by General Grant and their friends, so that the record of fact, on the part of the people, fails to show a solitary error of commission or omission. The case, whether of law or fact, has been clearly and logically symmetrical, from its conception to the culmination which is now so closely at hand as to be easily foreseen, and neither Executive power nor professional astuteness have availed to rescue the offender from the logical results of his opposition to the authority of the people.

One may nevertheless admire the fortitude with which his counsel have struggled in a hopeless cause. The utmost resources of the profession have been exhausted in their efforts to avert the inevitable. No client had ever greater reason to acknowledge the zealous fidelity of his advocates, or the high sense of professional honor which forbade them to flinch because success was simply impossible. From first to last, no effort has been omitted, no labor has been spared, no discouragement heeded. The Italian story of an imprisoned criminal who, day after day, hour after hour, beheld the iron walls of his cell gradually and noiselessly contracting upon him until, in their sure meeting at last, he foresaw the miserable fate which awaited him, affords an exact parallel to the experience of ANDREW JOHNSON impeached. He may have deluded himself with some hope of escape, but his professional advisers have realized the situation, and the fortitude of their unavailing efforts is only the more to be admired.

COMMENTING upon the argument of safety, upon which, with the further aid of the less reputable appliances known to an unscrupulous lobby, the short-span advocates of the Cincinnati bridge have secured the legalization of a 300 feet water-way, the Commercial of that city says;

In bidding good-bye to the free navigation of our river, therefore, let us rejoice in the guarantees of personal safety provided for us, and pray that the span of life of our rural protectors may never be menaced by any stream greater than that which flows from the neck of a lobbyist's champagne bottle.

OF THE President's recent nomination of Gen. Scofield to the War office, vice Mr. Stanton, removed, the Cleveland Herald remarks: This is a repetition of the offence for which he is on trial, and gives a chance for another count, if that were needed. Like the woman who was drowned because she quarrelled with her husband, and when she could no longer say scissors, stuck her hand above water and moved her finger and thumb, scissor fashion, Mr. Johnson is determind to have the last word.

Copperheads vs. War Democrats.

The Dayton Ledger, the organ of Vallandigham, strikes back at the New York Citizen for its recent denunciation of Pendleton, and its accompanying vermilion pledge to support no Peace Democrat for President. The Ledger remarks:

"We say to 'War Democrats' of the Marble-Halpin school, that they only waste breath and paper and ink, if they imagine that their threats, or their vows, or their oaths, meet with any thing but contempt from the more than a million of 'actual, positive, unconverted and undeniable peace men,' in the West and border States South. We are of that sort ourself, precisely; and all around in this valley for fifty miles, there is scarcely any other kind to be found, and in the State of Ohio, especially, they number 187,000, with nearly five years' increase to be added."

THE Chicago journals are very magnanimously writing up the manufacturing prospects of the Mississippi Valley. They are no longer jealous of St. Louis, but cheerfully concede to that city the eminence which it claims. Such paragraphs as the following have not hitherto been often found in the Chicago press. The Republican says:

The Gazette will see the seat of empire depart from the Mississippi Valley when its throne, the great Iron mountain of Missouri, and its treasury, the fifty thousand square miles of coal deposits in Illinois, are exhausted, and no sooner. In a few years we shall see St. Louis build iron ships carrying the commerce of the country.

HON. THOMAS WILLIAMS.

We take much pleasure in placing before our readers the annexed letters from gentlemen at Washington, who have been intelligent and disinterested observers of the efficient labors of the distinguished Representative from the XXIIId District, and who express the sentiment, which is general at the Capitol, of admiration for the powerful and exhaustive argument upon Impeachment which he delivered before the Senate a few days since:

[Special Correspondence of the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, April 28, 1868.

MESSRS. EDITORS: I heard with great pleasure the very able argument of your Mr. Williams of the Managers in the impeachment trial. It is much to say of an argument, that after all which had been said on both sides of that solemn case, his views were very strking, many of his points then first presented and the whole so clearly put as to attract the earnest attention of the Senate. Mr. Williams has been so identified with the impeachment movement from the first, that every phase of the case is familiar to him. The epitome which is presented by him in his speech of the crimes and misdemeanors of that fated "Accidency" cannot fail to attract universal attention.

It will not be his fault if the people forget that the articles of impeachment present only one or two of the clearest and most easily proved of the Presidential "misdemeanors." In fact there are scores of them running through the last two years, more heinous than any in the formal indictment, but many of them perpetrated under the color of law, or by some indirection, so deep in its mole-like windings that one is content to behold the pile of dirt where the animal went in and where it came out, without following.

Your correspondent did not set out with the intention of writing a criticism of an argument to which he listened with unalloyed pleasure, but simply to indicate what is thought of it here, where there has been almost a cloy of good things for the last weeks. I am sure Mr. Williams' neighbors will be proud of his effort and honor its author as his great abilities deserve.

The following is the very just tribute of the Chronicle:

"The argument of Manager Williams, the concluding portion of which we publish to-day, is a model of clear statement and close reasoning. As a logical structure, it has the compactness and symmetry of a Grecian temple combined with the solidity of a pyramid. It is, in short, irresistibly convincing—a complete answer to every argument which has been advanced, and, we may safely say, to every one which can be advanced, in the President's defence."

I will add that a lawyer of eminence stated it to your correspondent as his opinion that on the constitutional argument, posterity will read Mr. Williams' first.

As to the result of the trial, you know as well about that as any one here can tell. If this were an ordinary case, in which there were less at stake, or if only an ordinary interest were felt in this one as it now stands—if you can conceive of such a condition of things—I would not hesitate a moment in deciding that conviction will be the result. But you know how every man's wishes bias his judgment. Therefore, one is in doubt of himself; no one can tell whether the glass he sees though be blue or white, convex, plain or concave. Making now all the allowances possible in the case, I predict that there will be two more than the required number of votes for impeachment—a consummation devoutly to be wished.

Yours truly,
SOJOURNER.

WASHINGTON, April 30, 1868.

The great argument now being made before the High Court of Impeachment has attracted a vast crowd to the Capitol, and each day the densely packed galleries indicate the unflagging interest which it has awakened.

Some of the speeches have provoked criticism, some applause, and some enthusiastic encomium. That one which is to us the most interesting has been made by our own able Representative, Hon. Thomas Williams, one of the Managers. But one opinion is held of its legal force and ability; only one can be held as to its exquisite symmetry and stately eloquence. By general acclaim the palm is given to this great effort as the most scholarly production of its accomplished author.

This oration was peculiarly free from quibble, and therefore the more acceptable, for the counsel of the President have, in some instances, amazed his friends by a line of argument as fatal to him as it is insulting to the august tribunal before which they plead. Mr. Williams totally avoided this, and with a comprehensive and powerful sweep he portrayed the concurrent criminality of Andrew Johnson from the day of his disgraceful inauguration, until the day when he attempted the culmination of treason and crime by a flagrant violation of law in the removal of E. M. Stanton.

This able, and not less adroit, historical sketch brought Andrew Johnson before the bar of the Senate as a great criminal. No vestige of sympathy for him moved one of the vast auditory. The people had before them the bound culprit, and the exordium ended. And then began a legal argument which not only convinced the lawyers, but by its frequent bursts of eloquent indignation held the listening multitude spell-bound.

In the meantime the ill health of Mr. Williams began to tell upon him, and an adjournment was carried. Next morning came back the eager crowd, and the delighted Senate. A night's rest had restored the orator's wasted strength, and, in a full and sonorous voice, the legal argument was closed, and the peroration began.

Casting aside the drier details of technical phraseology, and authority, the scholarly Rhetorician shone forth in all his power and splendor. The galleries were now scarcely restrained from applause when some splendid figure burst from his lips, and now convulsed with laughter which could not be restrained when ad interim Thomas was wittily portrayed. At one moment he was described as full of warlike determination to oust the coward Stanton; at another he was at a masked ball enjoying the frivolities of the festive scene. Shout followed shout at this description, but when the climax was at last reached and Williams illustrated the foolish old man by quoting:

"Grim visaged war has smoothed his wrinkled front
And now, instead of mounting barbed steeds,
To fight the souls of fearful adversaries,
He capers nimbly in a lady's chamber
To the lacivious pleasing of a lute."

galleries, Senate, the Diplomatic corps, and the grave Chief Justice joined in a roar which lasted for minutes.

From this moment to the close the speech was a magnificent grouping of beauties, and a startling review of the consequences which must befal liberty, if the prerogative assumed by a Republican magistrate, greater than any claimed by the STUARTS, or attempted by the CÆSERS, was not sternly and speedily rebuked and prevented. No letter can do more than give you a synopsis of this great effort, which STEVENS, WADE, SUMNER, TRUMBULL, and a host of able judges pronounce the masterpiece of eloquence which this trial has produced.

Congress—22d District.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—It is apparent that the momentous question of who shall represent this Radical District in Congress, as the successor of General Moorhead, is now in process of solution, and that the popular choice is to be made between General Negley and Thomas Howard, Esq. In a matter of such grave moment it is the solemn duty of every conscientious Republican to support the best man aspiring to the position. Whatever else may be thought of his personal claims, our candidate should, at all events, be a man of unflinching Republicanism and thoroughly reliable upon those national questions upon which he will pass as our Representative. An attempt has been made to befog the issue in some of our journals by holding up to popular view the Know-Nothing antecedent of one candidate and the Fenian proclivities of the other, and even the plumes of the "Major General" are duly paraded in the press to catch the admiration of the "Boys in Blue." All these cunning devices savor too strongly of demagogueism, and will only deceive those superficial observers who are supposed to be influenced by such paltry arguments.

After all, the mass of this loyal community are only interested in having a candidate who will truly be a representative man, and whose past political record furnishes a sure guarantee of his orthodoxy. How lamentable it would be, indeed, if we should be duped into the selection and support of a political weathercock—a Radical to-day and a Conservative to-morrow, as interest or inclination might prompt. Some military men, events have already shown, who have adopted a certain sort of genteel conservatism, have already seen their laurels wither and blight under the bare suspicion of unfaithfulness to the great party ot the Union and of progress.

The true and faithful "Boys in Blue" will not sustain men of a doubtful political record. It cannot be denied that Mr. Howard stands well with the Republican party, and no one doubts for a moment that he is entirely reliable, and with him there is no danger of turning out as Johnson, Cowan and Doolittle have done. The true Republicans should beware, and not be cheated or sold.

Does any one question Mr. Howard's ability? On the contrary, his fitness is conceded, and he is well known, not only as an able lawyer, but as an active and successful business man, as well as one of the foremost in the support of Republican principles. It has been said that Mr. Howard is not personally popular. He may not be so popular with the Democracy as a trimmer, who carries water on both shoulders, and shakes hands with all he meets; but Mr. Howard has a popularity that cannot be shaken with the great majority of his party; and those who regard the final triumph of great principles as superior to the "claim" of men for office, will not cast their votes for a doubtful candidate.

The questions in the next campaign for President, will be mainly those of Constitutional Law, and who is named more capable of discussing them than Mr. Howard? He has been advocating the tariff for twenty years, and is thoroughly acquainted with all the local wants of our community that can be aided by national legislation. Let the true Republicans unite in supporting him.

REPUBLICAN.

ARKANSAS.—The President has received a copy of the new constitution of Arkansas from the proper officers of the late convention. The reconstruction act makes it his duty to lay the same before Congress at once, but what action he proposes to take in the matter is not yet known. Gen. Grant has received from Gen. Gillem an official report of the late election in Arkansas, showing that the Constitution was ratified in the proper manner, and giving the names of persons elected to office.

FALLACIES OF THE FACULTY.

The stomach is the ruling organ of the system. If the digestion is imperfect, every member, every gland, every muscle, every nerve and fibre is more or less out of order. All the fluids are depraved. The brain is clouded. The spirits are depressed. All dyspeptics know his to be the truth. It is not, however, half the truth. Columns would be required to enumerate the pains and penalties of dyspepsia, nor could any pen do them justice. Tens of thousands feel them; no man can describe them.

Can they be prevented? Can they be relieved? Can they be banished at once and forever? Unquestionably they can. No dyspeptic has ever taken HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS in vain. Believe no one who says the complaint is incurable. This great vegetable stomachic will eradicate it—is eradicating it in thousands of cases over which medical practitioners have shaken their heads ominously, saying, "Nothing can be done."

The faculty has its fallacies. One of them is that indigestion is the most difficult of all the ordinary ailments of mankind to combat and subdue. This is a mistake. Nothing can be easier than to conquer it if the true specific be administered. This vegetable combination which has become famous throughout the civilized world as HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS is an antidote to the disease which has never been known to fail, and fortunately it is everywhere procurable. If you wish to fool with the dyspepsia, try the pharmacopœia prescriptions. If you want to root it out and prevent its occurrence take the Bitters daily. There is no discount on the testimony in its favor. If there is a man or woman who has ever tried it for indigestion without being benefitted, the fact has not transpired. Universal, uncontradicted praise avouches its wonderful tonic virtues.

ANOTHER CURE OF DEAFNESS.

I lost my hearing during the last year. Part of the time I was totally deaf. In April of this year I was induced, from an advertisement, to make application to DR. KEYSER, 120 Penn street, Pittsburgh. After having tried various medicines from doctors, without any benefit. I have been under Dr. Keyser's treatment now for nearly two months, and am entirely restored to my hearing, so that I can hear a pin drop.

ANOTHER CURE.

A man called to-day at Dr. Keyser's office to inform him of a great cure made by his LUNG CURE, or PULMONARY RESTORATIVE. Ilst these cures are made with the Doctor's preparations, he desires it to be distinctly understood that most of his great cures are made in accordance with the established laws that govern the science of medicine, in which he has been engaged for the past twenty-five years. Last week he was also in receipt of a letter from a clergyman in the State of Ohio, detailing another most wonderful cure.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, SATURDAY, May 2, 1868.

The gold market keeps remarkably firm, even after about ten millions have been paid out for interest due May the the first. The undertone of the market however is less assuring that present quotations will be maintained, than at the early part of last week. Money is beginning to tighten up again, and the expense for carrying gold will be increased. A strong clique, well known in the gold room, have tried to get up an excitement about the further issue of paper currency and the redemption of our national debt in currency, but have utterly failed. Every financier and every legislator well versed with financial questions will readily know the danger arising from a further issue of currency to the business interests of the country and the general prosperity of our people. More importance is attached in the country districts to the impeachment question, but whatever the decision may be, the effect on the money market can be but temporarily unfavorable. It is the increase of our exports and the decrease of the high-priced articles of luxury that will exercise a more favorable influence on the state of our finances than all political questions.

Government bonds remained steady with a tendency to lower prices from the large amounts offered, but the general impression is that quotations will be higher yet, before an advance will take place.

Stocks remain firm, and most of the western shares are eagerly bought up during the unsettled state of the New York State roads. The large payments of gold during the next few days, however, will have a tendency to tighten the money market and lower quotations. But few of our local securities change hands; most of the corporations have their books closed for settlements for dividends.

Closing quotations as received by Ph. R. Mertz, were as follows:

Gold, 139¾; 1881 bonds, 113; 1862 5-20s, 108; 1864 do, 106¾; 1865 do, 106¾; Consols, 108¾; 10-40s, 103; 7-30s, 107⅝.

PITTSBURGH PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, SATURDAY, May 2, 1868.

CRUDE—The crude oil market continues much excited, and prices still have an upward tendency. Holders of spot oil are asking 11½c. We can report the following sales: 2500 bbls, first water, at 11c; 2000 for June, seller's option, at 11¼ c; 1000 Oil City, equal to 10¾c here. We paid a bonus of $50 for 2000 bbls, bulk oil, at 12¼c, having the privilege of calling for it at any time within thirty days. In the absence of sales we give the nominal quotation of 13c for all the year, buyer's option.

REFINED—The market for bonded oil is active and excited, and prices are higher. The following transactions came under our notice, all being Philadelphia delivery: 500 bbls last half of July, buyer's option, at 29¼c; 3,000 bbls July to December at 30c; a contract was purchased for May, June and July, 500 each month at 28 to 28¼c; 500 bbls for June at 29c; 500 bbls for July at 29c; 1,000 bbls for May at 30c; 3,000 bbls last half of May, at 30c; 3,000 bbls May, June and July 30c, and a "line" of 3,000 bbls for May, June and July, 1,000 each month at 29c. PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, SATURDAY, May 1, 1868.

During the early part of the week there has been a fair amount of business transacted in the various departments of trade, but, as yet, the general markets have not exhibited seasonable activity. Flour is very active and firm at the advance. For Provisions there is also an active inquiry, and prices are higher. There has been no change of consequence in Grain, excepting Corn, in which there is more doing at an advance. The receipts of produce are small. We quote the current rates as follows:

GRAIN—No reported sales of Wheat for some time. The millers have to bring all their stock from the western markets. We quote nominally Red Winter at $2,65 to $2,70; White Wheat, $2,70 to $2,75, and No. 1 Spring at $2,50 per bushel. There is more doing in Corn. On the wharf prime Ear Corn sold at $1,08, and Yellow Shelled at $1,10. Oats sold from Elevator at 78c, and in depot at 80 to 81c. per bushel. Rye is scarce and wanted at $1,95 to $2. Barley is in poor receipt and readily commands $2,50 per bushel.

FLOUR—During the week there has been considerable excitement among our Flour operators, and heavy sales have been made. There has been an advance in prices, and indications are that present rates will be maintained. Dealers are firm in their views. One of our houses is reported as having made heavy purchases. Those who have not disposed of their stock of Wheat hold firmly on to it, and in most localities in this section of the country the stock is about exhausted, and the west has to be looked to for supplies. The following quotations of reliable and well-known brands will give the reader an idea of prices: Dayton Snow Flake, White Winter, $13; White River, (Red Winter) $12 to $12,25; Jenkin's Lilly Mills, $12; Crossett's, $11,75; Emerald, $11,25 to $11,50; Ford's choice, $11,25, and medium brands, $10,50 to $11 per barrel. Rye Flour has advanced to $10 per barrel.

PROVISIONS—The market is buoyant and still advancing. We quote Sugar Cured Hams, 19¾ to 20c; do Canvassed, 20¾ to 21c; Shoulders, 14½ to 14¾c; Ribbed Sides, 17¼c; Clear Sides, 19c; choice Dried Beef, 24c, and Lard, 19½c per pound. Mess Pork has advanced to $30,50 per bbl.

LARD OIL—There is a large demand for Extra No. 1 at $1,50, and $1,25 per gallon for No. 2.

BUTTER—The market is less active and prices lower. Choice Roll is quoted at 40c to 42c.

EGGS—Market firm at 21 to 22c.

POTATOES—Firm with regular sales at $4 to $4,50 per bbl, for Peach Blows and Buckeyes.

APPLES—Sales were made at $4,50 to $7 per bbl.

Chicago Market.

CINCINNATI, May 2.—Flour and wheat dull but unchanged. Corn dull at 94c for ear. Oats declined to 78c for No. 1, and the market closed dull. Rye advanced to $2,05, owing to the light supply. The Two Needles.

The mariner's compass changed the face of the world, by stimulating trade, by making the navigation of the broad ocean practicable, and thus opening a new continent to civilization. Is the needle of modern firearms to work a revolution almost or quite as important?

The needle-gun gave Sadowa to Prussia; a victory as momentous in universal history as Marathon or Cannæ or Waterloo. The immediate results were to restore Lombardy and Venice to Italy, securing the final union of the nation under one government; and the bringing of all Germany, outside of Austria, into practical subordination to Prussia, and into close confederation with her. The indirect results are only beginning to reveal themselves; but we must already number among them great internal changes in the Austrian empire, including the adoption by the court of a thoroughly liberal and progressive policy; and the reduction of France to a level with Prussia as a military power, with such danger of falling into the second rank as compels her to strain her resources to the utmost to avoid it.

France has invented her own needle-gun, too, for the Chassepot rifle is of this character. The Emperor depends upon it as the most effective small arm yet devised, and if it prove superior to the German gun we shall perhaps see still more astounding changes wrought by this second of those needles, which may be said to carry turning-points of the history of mankind.—N. Y. Post.

Too Much Elephant.

On Saturday night, after the closing exhibition at Bailey's Circus had been given, the animals were taken to the Michigan Central depot to be shipped to Chicago. The baby elephant was placed on a platform car preparatory to taking a trip westward, and while he did not appear to relish the location much, he submitted to the arrangement that had been made for him with as much grace as compulsion generally insures under such circumstances. While he stood, the engine attached to the train started forward, and the sudden momentum given to the car disturbed the equilibrium of the elephant, and he went off the car much quicker than he went on. He gathered himself up as quick as he could, waxed wroth, and started for the first opening that presented itself. Although his keeper followed immediately, the elephant reached the passenger depot in safety, and then made a bee line for the refreshment stand there. The proprietor of the stand saw the animal coming, and succeeded in removing his pies, and cakes, &c., just in time to prevent their being devoured. The elephant, although defeated in his intentions, "threw out his trunk," and might have taken in the proprietor's head had not the gas been turned off and the windows closed. He "sloshed around" considerably, clearing away in almost any direction, and was finally captured before any damage had ensued from his movements. —Detroit Tribune.

An Excellent Law.

The Legislature of Ohio has enacted a law for which they will receive the thanks of every Christian, moral man and woman in the country. It was passed on the sixteenth of April, and provides for the infliction of a heavy fine and imprisonment on any newspaper publisher who shall print or publish an advertisement of any secret drug or nostrum, purporting to be exclusively for the use of females; on any druggist or other person who shall sell or give away such drugs; on any person who shall, by printing or writing, or in any other way publish an account or description of such drugs; etc.; on any person who shall in any way publish or circulate any obscene notice; and on any person who shall sell or give away any newspaper, circular, pamphlet or book containing notice of such drugs, etc.

The act, of course, is not to effect a teaching in regularly chartered medical colleges or the publication of medical standard books.

If this most excellent law was in operation in this State, hundreds if not thousands of lives would be saved, and scores of newspapers, some of them in our own vicinity, now almost entirely dependent for support upon these obscene and infamous advertisements, would pass away from the field of journalism.—State Guard.

State Banks and Savings Institutions.

The Auditor General's annual report on these institutions in Pennsylvania affords the following information:

There are in all six State banks—the Bank of Pittsburgh, Farmers Bank of Schuylkill county, Farmers and Mechanics Bank of Shippensburg, Millers and Miners Bank in Mercer county, Stroudsburg Bank, and Tioga County Bank; and the following savings and deposit banks: Canonsburg Savings Fund Society, Carlisle Deposit Bank, Dauphin Deposit Bank, Hanover Savings Fund Society, Mechanics Bank at Harrisburg, Reading Savings Bank, Shrewsbury Savings Institution, Real Estate Savings Bank at Pittsburgh, Western Savings Bank at Pittsburgh, Scranton Savings Bank and the Dime Savings Institution at Bethlehem.

The aggregate resources are put down at $7,806,660.41, and the liabilities at $7,806,772.92, the difference between them being caused by the Canonsburg Savings Fund Society reporting an excess of resources of $487.69, and the Real Estate Savings Bank an excess of liabilities of $600.

THE Mobile Register prints a letter written by its editor, who is now or was lately in Washington, written on the anniversary of the assassination of Mr. Lincoln. The general tone of this letter is more worthy of remark than any special expression in it. The writer discusses the question of the murder in a flippant way, speaks of the President as one who goes down to history as "the late lamented," remarks that he was not a good-looking man, calls Booth "a patriotic monomaniac,' mildly condems political assassinations, but thinks that on the whole this particular murder has been for the advantage of the South. Perhaps a careful reader might examine this letter critically with a view to fault-finding, and yet be able to point out no sentence to which he could object. But no one could read it without discovering that the writer's sympathies were wholly with Booth when he took aim at the President's head. It is such writing that, in the most insidious way, keeps alive the rebellious spirit, and while intelligent people read and assent to it, it is useless to hope for a healthy public sentiment in that section.

BOSTON CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY.—This society had its origin in the efforts of some ladies who were in the habit of visiting the jails, where they found many unruly boys wholly uncared for, and with no prospect of being anything but wild Arabs and criminals. They have now a farm and buildings at West Newton, with an excellent matron and a farmer, and a lady visitor and a general agent at Boston. The latter, Mr. Cook, visits the courts and prisons every day, and bails out such boys as he thinks proper; last year two hundred and seventy-three were bailed, not one in eight of whom were arrested a second time.

Mr. D'Israeli and Judaism.

The London Jewish Chronicle has the following remarks in reference to the new Premier and Judaism: "There seems, indeed, to be a singular mistake as to the relation of D'Israeli to Judaism. Some Jews censure him as an apostate, and urge his apostacy as an instance of tergiversation. Some Christians scoff at him as a Jew, with a singular disregard of all they owe to the Hebrew race. Now, the fact is that, in plain English, D'Israeli is neither an apostate nor a Jew. He was born of Hebrew parents. His father, Isaac D'Israeli, the author, and his mother a scion of the Basevis, were members of Shepardim Jewish families. His grandfather and grandmother, indeed, rest in the Portuguese cemetery at Mile End. Benjamin D'Israeli was admitted into the communion of Israel, but his father, thinking fit to quarrel with his synagogue, failed to teach his child Judaism. One day Rogers, the celebrated banker poet, happening to visit at Isaac D'Israeli's house at Hackney, when Benjamin was about five or six years old, and regretting to find so intelligent a youth without religious instruction, took him to Hackney Church. From this event dates his absolute and complete severance from the Jewish communion. He became a christian, and a great genius was lost to us."

Safety of Life and Property on Railways.

Leading members of each branch of Congress are urging the necessity of some Federal inspection of and control over such railways as extend through several States. The House Committee on Roads and Canals has a report in preparation, which, it is said, takes the ground that Congress has the undoubted power to compel railroads to provide all reasonable guards against accident, and especially to take such measures as shall render fires impossible from lamps or stoves, and that Congress also has the power to force railroads to make such connections with each other as shall prevent delay in commercial transactions. Regarding the control of rates of fare and freight, the report will take the position that Congress cannot interfere unless the rates are so exorbitant as to impede commerce. There may be a recommendation for the appointment of a commission to examine into the whole regulation and operation of the Railroad system of the country during the coming recess and report at the next session of Congress.

A Double Murder.

A dreadful crime has been committed at Vannes, France. A man named Lodéo, formerly a soldier, had married a few months ago a farmer's daughter of the neighborhood. He lived a debauch, and soon spent the four or five thousand francs which he had received with his wife. Suddenly, a few days back, he went to his father-in-law's house, and without saying a word, attacked him with a knife, and, after stabbing him twice mortally, took to flight. The dying man, fearing some further catastrophe, charged his son to go to his sister's and if necessary protect her. But the young man arrived too late, as the woman was found a corpse, with the head nearly severed from the body. She had been dead, it appeared, more than three days, and the murderer had been shut up most of the time in the room with the corpse. He has since been arrested.

SECURITY AND COMFORT FOR THE TRAVELING COMMUNITY.

J. B. HARRIS' SAFETY FIRE JACKET,

Car Heater and Moderator,

For SMOKE AND HOT AIR FLUES, dispensing with the use of Stoves and Fires in or about the Passenger or Baggage Cars, with the attachment to graduate the heat to any temperature that may be desired without the possibility of firing the car or cars to which the Jacket may be attached.

Having obtained of the United States Letters Patent for a Safety Jacket which is warranted to resist the most intense heat that may be adpilied to it in the position and purpose for which it is intended. It is a sure protection from accidents by fire, originating from defective flues, or where iron pipes are used as conductors for smoke or heat. It is applicable to all piping that may become overheated, and is warranted to give perfect satisfaction where wood or other combustible material may be placed in close proximity thereto. I am now ready to apply my invention to stores, dwellings, factories, ships, steamboats, railroad cars, &c., wherever pipes as conductors are made dangerous by being overheated and security desired. I will sell, on application, rights to manufacture or to use the above invention; also, territorial rights, to such as may wish to engage in selling privileges, either by State or county.

A MISSING MAN FOUND.

A Mystery Explained—The Body of Anthony Freyvogle Found in the Ohio River—Cause of his Death Unknown—Coroner's Inquest to be Held To-day.

The sudden and mysterious disappearance of Mr. Anthony Freyvoegle, a well known merchant of this city, some three months since, has at last been partially explained by the finding of his body floating in the Ohio river. The manner and cause of his death, however, still, and probably, will forever remain a mystery. Whether by some unaccountable accident he fell into the river and was drowned, or, being tired of living, he took upon himself the responsibility, and by an act of his own passed into eternity: or what is still more terrible to contemplate, did he fall the victim of some foul and bloody murder, committed by some of the many infamous scoundrels and assassins who, for the sake of a few dollars, would hasten the soul of a fellow man unprepared to judgment, is yet a secret, which, in all probability will be buried in the grave with the unfortunate man, whose sad fate has for months past created so great an interest throughout the community, to be revealed only on that day when "nations shall be judged, and every man rewarded according to his deeds."

The circumstances connected with his disappearance have been so extensively commented upon by the public press that our readers are all doubtless familiar with them, and we will not, therefore, enter into details regarding it.

On Tuesday, January 21st, at about eight o'clock in the evening, he left some acquaintances on Diamond alley, and started for home. Not the slightest peculiarity in his demeanor or in the circumstances attending him was noticed. After that time until Friday evening last, nothing was seen or heard of him. Every effort was made to solve the mystery; rewards were offered, detectives endeavored to find traces of him; his friends and family left no means untried to find the lost one, but their untiring efforts were of no avail, and no explanation whatever could be given to the affair. Many of his friends feared that he had been foully dealt with, while others conceived the idea that he had been abducted and confined in some Lunatic Asylum; yet nothing definite being known in regard to him, they were left in a state of suspense more terrible far than would have been the dread reality.

About four o'clock on Friday afternoon, Jacob and John Lashell and John Hughes, while engaged in pumping out a flat boat at Lashell's Landing, opposite Sewickley, discovered the dead body of a man floating in the river near by, which they at once secured, and notified Coroner Clawson by telegraph, stating in the dispatch that the body was believed to be that of Anthony Freyvogle. Saturday morning the Coroner, accompanied by Mr. S. C. Trauerman, of St. Clair street, who had been an intimate friend and acquaintance of the missing man, repaired to the place, and after empanneling and swearing a jury composed of S. C. Trauerman, Henry Smith, J. W. Marlett, J. Lane, L. Whitmore and John R. Cochran, the body was removed from the water and examined, when unmistakable evidence of its being that of Mr. Freyvogle was found. The deceased was dressed in vest, pants, shirt and boots, the coat and hat being gone. The clothing was readily identified by Mr. Trauerman, and one of the boots bore the patch, spoken of in the first account of his disappearance. In the pockets of the pants and vest were found papers which rendered the identification complete. All bore the name of "Anthony Freyvogle." Among them was a receipt signed by Dr. A. G. Walters, another by Messrs. Roberts & Koenigk, two by Carson, Darlington & Co., and by Bakewell & Marthens, and two tax receipts. On his person, also, was found a handkerchief, a five dollar gold piece, a German gold piece, a cent, a French copper, a night key, a knife and a gold watch. The latter had stopped at eighteen minutes after nine o'clock.

The inquest then adjourned to meet at the Mayor's office at ten o'clock this morning, and the Coroner had the body packed in ice and removed to the city, where it was examined yesterday by Dr. Murdock, who stated that he was unable to find any marks of violence. The holes in the head spoken of in some of the city papers as having apparently been made by a bullet and buckshot prove to be merely indentations of the outer skull, made, the Dr. says, by coming in contact with some pointed and hard substance after decomposition had taken place. After the examination the remains were taken in charge by an undertaker and were properly interred at three o'clock P. M. yesterday.

Fire in Ross Township—Montana Oil Works and Three Dwellings Burned—Loss $51,000—Insurance $11,000.

A destructive conflagration took place about four o'clock Saturday morning in the Oil Works of the Montana Refinery and Storing Company in Ross township, on the Perrysville Plank Road, about half a mile from the Allegheny City line, by which the Oil works and three dwellings were entirely destroyed. The fire originated in the receiving room of the refinery and the building was enveloped in flames in a few moments. Adjoining the building was a wooden tank containing six hundred barrels of crude oil, which instantly took fire and exploded. The receiving house, adjoining the crude oil tank, in which some five hudred barrels of refined oil were stored, next caught fire and was destroyed. A frame dwelling occupied by Julius Schmidt, superintendent of the works, and a large shed containing 1,000 empty barrels, took fire and were consumed. The burning oil floated down Butcher's Run and communicated the fire to a two-story frame house several hundred feet from the works, which was completely destroyed, together with an adjoining cottage house. One of these buildings was fully insured; the other had an insurance of three hundred dollars. The oil company estimate their loss between twenty and thirty thousand dollars. The company had about $11,000 insurance, $6,000 of which was on the building, machinery, &c., $2,400 was in the Ætna, $1,200 each in the St. Marks, Beekman and Albany city companies. The remaining $5,000 was on the oil tanks, which were uninjured, the risk being in the M. & M. Co. of this city. Two men were injured, but not dangerously. The Allegheny Fire Department was promptly on hand and it was due to their indefatigable exertions that the fire did not spread further. The Columbia did efficient service with hooks and ladders.

Body Found—Coroner's Inquest.

The body of an unknown man was found between two rafts in the Ohio river near Neville Station, on the P. Ft. W. & C. R. R. about two o'clock Saturday afternoon by Alfred Ewans. The deceased was apparently about 30 years of age, 5 feet 10 inches high, black hair and whiskers; was dressed in a black and red flannel shirt, gray woollen undershirt, black cassimere pants and vest, and blue socks with white toes. He had neither coat, hat nor boots. Coroner Clawson held an inquest, when the jury rendered a verdict of "found drowned."

—Since writing the above we learn that the body, which was taken in charge by Mr. Alexander Aiken, undertaker, 166 Fourth street, for burial, has been identified as that of John Brandenbuger, who, it will be remembered, fell from the tow boat Allegheny at the Monongahela wharf some two weeks since. A brother identified it, and the body was placed in a neat coffin and expressed to the residence of his father in Beaver county.

DISASTROUS FIRE.

The Works of the Pittsburgh Bolt Company Destroyed—Loss $100,000—Insurance $40,000.

A most disastrous fire occurred Sunday morning, at half-past six o'clock, in the works of the Pittsburgh Bolt Company, by which the entire establishment, and a large amount of valuable machinery, was destroyed. The building was a frame structure, iron clad, covering an area of ninety-six by one hundred and thirty feet, and was situated at or near the corner of Butler and Morton streets, in the Ninth ward. That portion fronting on Butler street, next to Morton, was occupied by the machinery for cutting screws, and the other end was used as the business office. In the rear of this was the bolt factory proper, where all the valuable machinery for making bolts, the engine, and the furnaces, were located, and in the rear of this again was the blacksmith shop. The fire, it is thought, originated from one of the furnaces in the bolt factory, as the flames were first observed issuing from that portion of the building. The alarm was given from box sixty-four at precisely half-past six o'clock, and in ten minutes thereafter almost the entire fire department of the city were on the ground. Owing to the fact of the building being iron-clad, and the very rapid progress of the flames, it was impossible to save the building, the greater portion of which was in ashes in less than half an hour from the time the fire was discovered. The firemen worked nobly, however, and by their well directed efforts the devouring element was kept confined within the iron-clad walls of the building in which it originated, notwithstanding there were frame buildings within a few feet of it. The office and a portion of the screw cutting room, with the machinery, were also saved. The loss is estimated at $100,000 by the proprietors, but it is difficult to make any correct estimation of it until the machinery is removed from the debris, as it is impossible to say to what extent it is injured. The engine, which was a very valuable and expensive one, is doubtless ruined, as the bed plate is broken in several places, and several other portions of it seriously injured, and it is probable that all the light machinery is more or less broken or warped as to unfit it for further use. The insurance will not exceed $40,000, all of which is in Eastern companies.

A watchman was kept in the establishment, who it appears left the building at six o'clock, only half an hour before the flames were discovered issuing from the roof, which would indicate that the fire originated very shortly after he left the building. The fire had been drawn from the furnace nearest the wall on Saturday afternoon, and the one in which fire remained was several feet from anything of an inflammable nature, consequently the cause or origin of the fire is something of a mystery. The proprietors, however, think it was accidental.

The Opera House.

The Leader, of yesterday, comments, in terms of severe but just reprehension, upon "the various short-comings and positive neglect" on the part of the stock company at this House, which were "plainly visible to the most casual observer on any evening of the past week." Assigning various causes for the "spirit of carelessness" which has been apparent, our cotemporary remarks:

"An actor is a servant of the public, and is in duty bound to use his best endeavors when upon the stage to please the auditors and earn his salary. When a member of the profession so far forgets his position as to perform more for the amusement of the 'stage hands' or his fellow-actors, than he does for his audience, he not only lowers himself in the estimation of the public but serves in a very active manner to bring the theatre he may be playing at into disrepute."

We welcome the Leader as a valuable ally in the work of reforming that establishment. The people of Pittsburgh are sincerely desirous of seeing the drama restored to a respectable footing in this city, and gratefully appreciate the fidelity and directness with which the existing abuses have been remarked upon by a portion of the press. The Leader is on the right track and, sharing with the GAZETTE the field of impartial criticism, is doing efficient service toward redeeming the Opera House stage from the "disrepute" into which it has fallen.

Large Funerals.

The funeral of the late Alderman James L. Sutherland, which took place at half-past two o'clock yesterday from the residence of his brother, Hector Sutherland, on Grant street, was a large and imposing one. The solemn cortege, composed of the Lodge of Odd Fellows of which the deceased was a member, followed by a long line of carriages in which were the relatives and friends, was headed by the Great Western Band in full dress, in which order the procession moved to the Allegheny Cemetery, where the body was interred. The deceased having been a native of this city had a large circle of frends and acquaintances, who will regret his untimely and sudden departure from among them.

The remains of Henry Freyvogle, found in the Ohio river on Friday, an account of which we publish elsewhere, were followed to the grave yesterday by a vast number of people. The deceased was widely known throughout the city, which, in connection with the mystery attending his death, accounts for the large procession which followed the body to its last resting place.

Another Den of Infamy.

From the number of prosecutions against parties for keeping bawdy houses it would appear as though there was a determination to rid the city of them. Scarcely a week passes with one or more informations being made charging persons with keeping houses of this character, so that the business has become a very unsafe one. Saturday, Mary Johnston, a white woman, who it appears has for some time past occupied rooms in a low den of infamy, kept by Henry and Sarah Cleggett, (colored,) at the corner of Logan street and Pasture Lane, in the Seventh ward, came before the Mayor and made information charging them with keeping a bawdy house. They were arrested and after a hearing before the Mayor were held to bail for their appearance at Court.

Painful Accident.

An accident occurred at a sparing match, which took place in Wilkins Hall, Saturday night, between Joseph and John Rodgers. They were engaged in a "set to" when they clinched, and fell in such a manner as to break one of the bones in Joseph's left ankle. The entertainment, which we are informed, was conducted in the most orderly and quiet manner, was one of the best exhibitions of the "manly art" ever given in this city. The Brothers Rodgers are well proportioned athletic men, and said to be excellent sparers. The injured man was removed to his residence in the Eighth ward.

Sudden Death.—Coroner Clawson held an inquest on the body of Mary Cunningham, who died suddenly at the residence of Barbara Sillman, on First street, Third ward, Allegheny, on Saturday morning, of congestion of the brain. The deceased was about fifty-five years of age, and on Saturday morning, a short time previous to her death, came to Mrs. Sillman's on a visit. The jury returned a verdict in accordance with the facts.

Personal.—Mr. John Wright, who was leader of music in the First Presbyterian church for twenty-six years, sailed for England a few days ago, in the "City of Paris," to be absent a few months.

Amusements.

THE OPERA HOUSE.—Under the most annoying circumstances Mr. Edwin Adams worried through the moral drama of the "Drunkard" on Saturday night at this "high-toned and popular place of amusement." "Notwithstanding the harsh criticisms of the GAZETTE," there were in attendance more empty chairs than we ever before noticed at this "judiciously managed place of entertainment." The powerful attractions of the circus, the new curiosities of the museum, and the great bill at Trimbles, were combining circumstances to attract elsewhere the "crowd of patrons." We cannot help admiring their good taste, for it was absolute torture to keep company with the vacant chairs, and put in an hour listening to the badly spoken Saxon on the stage. Poor Adams! Desrvedly a favorite here, as well as elsewhere, he has met a Waterloo in his present engagement, and will leave our town highly impressed with the idea that a popular management is conducive to the success of a popular actor. We have no heart to criticise the performance, as the stock company sustained its usual reputation, and not an empty chair ventured so much as to hiss, even if they did present, like the individuals who occupied the laps of a few of their neighbors, a stoical indifference to the "decidedly clever acting" of the aspiring tragedians and comedians.

THE CIRCUS.—Thayer & Noyes' circus drew a very large audience on Saturday night in Allegheny in fact, one of the largest we have seen for many years past gathered beneath the tent. Everybody seemed pleased with the varied entertainment afforded, and the audience gave frequent signs of approval and delight by wild and rapturous applause. This afternoon the first performance in this city will be given at the Red Lion Lot and again this evening. This morning at about ten o'clock the great public procession will start from the Red Lion Lot and move down Penn street to the river; up the river to Liberty; up Liberty to Market; down Market to the Levee; up the Levee to Smithfield; out Smithfield to Liberty, and out Liberty to the end of that street; then down Penn street to the Red Lion Lot. Let everybody be out to witness the grand cavalcade, as seldom has Pittsburgh been visited with so grand a combination as this great circus and menagerie.

BARNUM COMING.—On Friday next there will open at Masonic Hall for a few days a collection of curiosities saved from the destruction of Barnum's Museum in March last, under the management of the hero showman. Probably no public exhibition has ever visited this place so well worthy patronage, and possessing so many attractions for the curious. Who has not heard of Barnum's "Fat Boy," or of the "Giantess," or of the "Albinos," or of the beautiful "Circassian girls," or of the famous "Scotch Dwarf"? each and every one of whom is as great a curiosity in their way as Tom Thumb or Commodore Nutt. These and others of equal interest are in the company which is to visit us, and we predict that Masonic Hall will be filled to its utmost capacity by our wonder seeking citizens.

PITTSBURGH THEATRE.—This old and popular place of amusement, under such excellent management, continues to draw largely from the patronage of its more pretentious rival up street. The bills each evening are varied and entertaining, and the corps of clever negro delineators, pantomimists, dancers and vocalists are quite attractive.

BURNELL'S MUSEUM.—The attendance at Franklin Hall is daily increasing. The Musum presents many natural curiosities and is eminently worthy of a visit.

A Case Compromised.

A rather peculiar case of assault and battery was brought before Justice Ammon, of East Birmingham, which, through his instrumentality, was compromised, and the parties left the office on more friendly terms, if possible, than they had ever been previously, notwithstanding the fact of them being husband and wife. It appears that John G. Kunzman, a young German but recently married, having some money to invest, went to the West, purchased a piece of land, and returned for the purpose of taking his wife and settling upon his purchase. The wife refused to go, which so enraged the husband that he forgot his gallantry and struck her. This was too much for her to bear, and she went to the Justice mentioned, stated the facts and made information for assault and battery. The husband was arrested and when the case was called up for a hearing, it appeared that the wife had no intention of prosecuting for assault and battery, but merely desired to compell her husband to divide what money he had left with her and agree to a separation. This the Justice could not compel him to do, of course, but he reasoned the matter with the unhappy pair in such an eloquent manner and with so much effect, that the husband not only divided his money with the wife but gave her a deed for the property he had purchased, and the wife declared her intentions to accompany "Hans" to the West. The Justice discharged the case and the parties left the office in the most happy mood imaginable.

Alleged Horse Thief Arrested.—John Christy was arrested Saturday charged with stealing, on oath of J. J. McCook, before Mayor Drum. Several months since a horse was stolen from John Mitchell, of Lawrence county, which was subsequently found in the possession of Mr. Hani, a butcher, in Allegheny, and delivered to the owner. Hani alleges that he purchased the horse from Christy, and on this information the prosecution is based. The accused, after a partial hearing, was committed to jail for a further hearing on the 12th instant.

A Slight Fire.—Friday afternoon, while several ladies were decorating the altar in the Chapel of the Convent School, on Webster street, preparatory for May devotions, they accidentally broke a lamp containing oil, which on taking fire and scattering over the altar, soon enveloped it in flames. By the aid of a few buckets of water the fire was soon extinguished, but not until everything on the altar was destroyed. No alarm was sounded.

An Old Firm in a New Place—Grand Opening To-day of J. M. Burchfield & Co.

No dry goods dealer has longer or more deservedly occupied a high position in the estimation of patrons generally than Mr. J. M. Burchfield, who has just entered into a new co-partnership and will open this day, at No. 52 St. Clair street, with an entire new stock of goods. The firm of J. M. Burchfield & Co. have taken great pains in fitting out their new salesroom, which is one of the most elegant buildings on St. Clair street. It has been thoroughly remodeled, and refitted, and is now one of the prettiest, as well as best adapted, storerooms in the city. Of large dimensions, boasting two show windows which are supplied with mammoth French plate windows on either side of a broad door-way, papered with a delicate shade of blue, with rich trimmings, panels, mouldings and borders, the room is all that could be desired in point of taste and beauty. The counters are of rich black walnut, mounted on iron frames of handsome design, and the shelving is neat and handsome. A skylight in the rear, the transcept above the entrance and the elegant large windows furnish all the light necessary and essential to the careful selection of goods by purchasers. The carpenter work of refitting was performed by Messrs. R. M. Dickey & Sons, and the painting by John T. Gray, both firms well known in this community.

Messrs. Burchfield & Co. have on hand a very fine stock of entirely new goods, which have been selected with the utmost care with a view of offering to the Pittsburgh trade as good a selection as can be procured in the leading fashionable houses of the east. The prices will prove popular as the firm are determined to be undersold in goods by no house west of the mountains. Ladies will bear in mind that the grand opening takes place to-day. We bespeak for Mr. Burchfield and his associates a large share of patronage at their new quarters, and commend them in most hearty terms as worthy the confidence of our readers.

The Franklin Exchange, Franklin, Pa

Perhaps the finest hotel structure outside of Pittsburgh and Philadelphia, in the State, and certainly one of the best managed and most ably conducted, is the Franklin Exchange, Franklin, Pa. It is of massive proportions, presenting an elegant appearance, is admirably located in the heart of the city, and fitted and furnished throughout in the highest style of art. The furniture in every department, the parlors, dining halls, reception rooms, bed chambers and waiting rooms is very elegant, of the richest modern styles and of most exquisite eastern workmanship. The hotel will accommodate as many guests as the Monongahela House or St. Charles of this city, and those who put up at it have a certainty of receiving the best attention possible. Connected with the Exchange there is a first-class billiard room, containing eight modern Phelan tables, where idle hours can be whiled away in Americanized recreation. The barber shop, bath rooms and saloon are all first-class, having metropolitan dignity. The proprietors, Messrs. Draper & Stratton, fully know how to keep a hotel and carefully study the wants of their patrons, leaving nothing undone to secure their comfort and enjoyment. The hotel will receive summer boarders at reasonable rates, and we know of no place where the sultry weather can more agreeably be enjoyed than in the pretty and inviting town of Franklin. We commend the house in no hesitating terms to our readers, assuring them that they will be satisfied with its management, pleased with the sumptuous bill of fare daily afforded, and delighted with the accommodations and conveniences generally.

Committed.

John Bauz, charged with conduct calculated to cause a breach of the peace, on oath of Catharine Panzer, before Justice Arent, of Allegheny, was committed Saturday in default of bail to answer.

Daniel Hohman, charged before the same magistrate, on oath of John Hillenband, with obtaining goods under false pretence, was committed to jail, Saturday, in default of the required bail for his appearance at Court.

John King, charged on oath of John Howler, before Alderman Thomas, with larceny, was committed Saturday to answer at Court.

David Brenson, charged on oath of his wife Susan with abandonment, had a hearing before Alderman Strain, Saturday, and was held in the sum of $500 for his appear at Court, in default of which he was committed.

Susan Glenn, charged before Alderman McMasters, on oath of Anna Young, with larceny by bailee, was arrested Saturday and committed to jail for a hearing.

Kicked by a Horse.

Benjamin Eacher, driver of car No. 4 on the Pittsburgh and Birmingham Passenger Railway, was seriously injured Saturday by being kicked by a horse. After reaching the terminus of the road on Smithfield street, he changed the horses to the other end of the car and drove to the station as usual, and was in the act of stepping from the platform to water his team, when the horse on the "off" side, which was young and "skittish," kicked at him with both feet, striking him above the eye and knocking him down. He was earried into the station insensible, but was restored to consciousness by the application of the proper remedies, after which he was removed to his residence. His injuries, although very severe, are not of a serious character.

At the Allegheny Fair, in Washington street Hall, adjoining the House of Industry, the attendance continues to be large and the contest between the respective friends of the Mayors of the two cities for the elegant gold-headed cane waxes warm and exciting. Last night Mayor Blackmore was 447 while Mayor Drum had 463. The Heath Zouaves were slightly in the advance for the elegant stand of colors, but the Light Guards are developing much strength and many friends. The attractions for this evening are great.

Held for Court.—Henry Clagette, charged with assault and battery, on oath of Mary Johnston, before the Mayor, was, after a hearing on Saturday, held to bail for his appearance at Court. The prosecutrix alleges that Claggette, who is a negro, keeps a bawdy house, where she has been staying for some time past, but had resolved to reform her ways and leave off her evil habits, and upon expressing her intention to Cleggette he became enraged and struck her.

City Teachers' Association—Second Meeting—Inaugural Address by the Chairman.

The first stated meeting of the Pittsburgh Teachers' Association was held Saturday morning in the Hall of the Western University, at Diamond and Ross streets.

The meeting was opened with prayer by Prof. J. F. McClymonds. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved.

Mr. Philotus Dean, Chairman of the Association, was called upon and delivered an inaugural, after which the Association took a recess of fifteen minutes.

Mr. Munroe moved that the President be requested to furnish a copy of his address for publication.

Mr. Dean stated the address had not been prepared for publication, but was willing that an abstract should be made of it.

Mr. Munroe said that a committee would be ready to have published any portion the Chairman was willing to furnish.

The motion of Mr. Munroe was then adopted.

Miss J. Newell was introduced and read a well written essay on "Reading."

Rev. Mr. Fern addressed the Association on the method of teaching.

Mr. Lucky, City Superintendent, being present, was called upon and responded in a few well chosen remarks relative to the object and usefulness of the Association.

Mr. Burt, in a brief address, urged the teachers to endeavor to make the Association useful.

Mr. Jones, by special request, entertained the Association with a song, after which the meeting adjourned.

Parting Testimonial.

A very affecting parting scene took place at the Sandusky street School on Thursday afternoon. Mr. C. A. Chamberlain, the principal, having resigned on account of ill health, the directors, teachers, and pupils met in his room, and Mr. Young, in behalf of the teachers and pupils, presented Mr. C. with a very handsome gold-headed cane, as a slight token of their love and regard. He responded in a very appropriate and impressive manner. Mr. Francis, in behalf of the Board of Directors, expressed their approbation of his labors and success, and also their deep regret at parting with one who had worked so faithfully. Mr. Loomis also made some very beautiful remarks, saying we were often called to witness such parting scenes in this world, but he hoped all would meet in that place where partings were unknown. After singing "Shall we gather at the river?" Mr. Chamberlain bade farewell to all. He has the good wishes of all for his speedy recovery.

Grand Opening

Messrs. Rosenbaum, Steinhart & Co., the popular dealers in trimmings, notions, straw and millinery goods, announce a grand opening to take place this day, to which the attention of our lady readers is directed. This firm has succeeded in pleasing the public since their advent into our midst, and have kept such an elegant display of fashionable goods on hand as to win large patronage from the community. The firm have just received a fine stock of straw goods, such as bonnets, hats, cords and tassels, together with ribbons of all kinds, artificial flowers, bonnet and hat frames, crapes, illusions, silks, satins, laces, velvete, embroideries, white goods, hosiery, gloves, furnishing goods, parasols, sunshades, and the thousand and one other articles embraced in their line of trade. The ladies will find the opening to-day very attractive.

Struck a Boy.—James Kelly made information before Alderman Thomas against Frederick Brinenger, charging him with having committed an assault and battery on his son, William J, Kelly. The parties reside on Gibbon street, in the Eighth ward. The prosecutor alleges that his son, with several other boys, was playing around defendant's stable, when he rushed out and struck him on the arm with a stick or whip. A warrant was issued and the defendant arrested, and after a hearing held to bail for his appearance at court.

Amende Honorable.—In Saturday's GAZETTE we published an item under the caption of "A Cutlery Business," which did great injustice to Mr. William Jones, a very worthy gentleman, who sustains a character in this community above the suspicion of a disreputable act. He simply took possession of his own goods, and the prosecution was made out of anything but a commendable spirit by the prosecutor. The case was promptly dismissed and the prosecutor made his disappearance.

Held for Trial.—Ed. McGann and Thos. Devine, charged on oath of L. B. Kelly with the larceny of sixty dollars, the particulars of which have been previously reported, had a final hearing before Alderman Strain on Saturday, and were held to bail in the sum of five hundred dollars each for their appearance at Court, and Kelly, charged on oath of James Brightmore with perjury, was, in default of bail, committed for trial.

Drugs, Drugs, Drugs.—Go to Burns & Caughey's drug store, corner of Penn and St. Clair streets, for the finest assortment of pomades, perfumes, Colognes, toilet waters of every description, just received this day, and sold at the very lowest rates. Remember the place, Burns & Caughey, corner of Penn & St. Clair streets.

Malicious Mischief.—T. H. Bolton made information before Alderman Taylor Saturday, charging Ed McGann and Bernard Kenns with malicious mischief. He alleges that they maliciously broke a light of glass for his window. A warrant was issued for their arrest.

Steamboat Detained.—Owing to the unfavorable state of the weather, the steamboat Kate Robinson, has been detained, and will now continue her trip through to St. Louis. She advertises for Cincinnati, Louisville, Cairo and St. Louis, to-morrow afternoon at four o'clock.

Surety of the Peace.—A. A. Lots made information before Alderman Taylor, Saturday, against Peter Schusler for surety of the peace, alleging that Peter called him "ugly names" and threatened to do him violence. A warrant was issued for the arrest of Peter.

Another Cave In.—The Soho Bridge, which caved in some weeks since to such an extent as to impede travel on the road for several days, has again fallen in, and passengers on the Oakland road were compelled to change cars at that point yesterday.

Pay Your County Taxes.—The tax books are all made up in the County Treasurer's office, and tax-payers will do well to call and settle before the rush commences. By paying now they receive a eduction of five per cent. on the gross amount.

Threatened Him.—John Rhu made information before Alderman Ammon on Saturday, in which he alleges that Patsey Stanton threatened to do him "great bodily harm." Patsey was arrested and held for a hearing.

Surety of the Peace.—Jacob Klinefelter made information before Alderman Irwin, of Lawrenceville, against James Porter, for surety of the peace. The parties rsside in Hatfield. A warrant was issued for his arrest.

Fraud.—H. L. Lane was committed to jail Saturday in default of bail to answer at Court a charge of fraud, on oath of E. M. Fulton, before Justice Berry, of McKeesport.

Completed.—The new organ for the Third Presbyterian church, in this city, is now completed at the factory of the Hook Bros., Boston, and will be erected in the church in July.

"Look on this Picture, then on that,"

Here you behold the infirm step,
The pallid cheek, wasting form,
Untasted food, and a social atmosphere
Poisoned with the tales of aches, pains,
Sleepless nights and mental despondency.
There, laughing health, sparkling eyes,
Elastic step, craving appetite, forgotten cares,
Genial thought and ambitious resolves,
Show the contrast and mark the picture.
One took the Plantation Bitters—the other didn't. They are very beneficial for weak and delicate persons.
